India, US firm up roadmap on def industrial ties

New framework ahead of Modi's visit to US

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

INDIA and the US on Monday concluded a roadmap for defence industrial cooperation that is expected to create access to cutting-edge technologies besides co-producing military platforms, at a meeting defence minister Rajnath Singh had with visiting US Secretary of Defence Lloyd Austin here.

The US Department of Defence (DoD) said the roadmap "will fast-track technology cooperation and co-production in areas such as air combat and land mobility systems; intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance; munitions; and the undersea domain."

The initiative aims to change the paradigm for bilateral cooperation, including specific proposals that could provide India access to cutting-edge tech and support defence modernisation plans, the DoD said.

Sources said the discussions included General Electric's proposal to manufacture GE414 jet engines in India, which is "in a mature state".

The Indian side asked the US to increase local sourcing for manufacture. The US was requested to establish MRO (maintenance, repair and overhaul) facilities in India for equipment in use with the Indian armed forces. Sources added that capacity building, including maritime domain awareness and strategic infrastructure, were also discussed.

The Ministry of Defence said, "Both sides will identify opportunities for co-development of new technologies and co-production of existing and new systems." The regional security environment was also discussed, including the Indo-Pacific. Austin also held talks with National Security Advisor Ajit Doval. His trip was meant to do the spadework before big-ticket deals are announced later this month when Prime Minister Narendra Modi will make his official state visit to Washington.

GRP books unnamed Rly officials, CRS starts probe

HEMANT KUMAR ROUT
@ Bhubaneswar

THE Government Railway Police (GRP) has registered a case against unnamed railway officials for the horrific pile-up of trains on Friday that killed over 250 passengers.

The FIR was booked under various sections, including 304-A (causing death by negligence), 337 (causing hurt by act endangering life and personal safety of others) and 338 (causing grievous hurt) of IPC. Culpability of railway employees will be determined during investigation, said the FIR registered at Cuttack. GRP sources said the probe will be done by two DSP-rank officers.

The Railways began its own probe on Monday with a team led by Commissioner of Railway Safety (CRS) of the south eastern circle, Shailesh Kumar Pathak, visiting the accident site. They also met the loco pilot and assistant loco pilot of the ill-fated Coromandel Express, who are learned to have said that the signal was green as the train entered the loop line and that the speed of the train was within permissible limits. Their statements indicated a fault in the interlocking system.

Both the loco pilots suffered serious injuries and are undergoing treatment at AIIMS, Bhubaneswar. Though their condition is stable, the assistant loco pilot is scheduled to undergo a surgery.

The probe team also inspected the panel and signal room at the Bahanaga Bazar station before interacting with the station manager, two station superintendents and other railway staff, who were present at the time of the accident.

"We have started the inquiry. We visited the spot and inspected many things. The probe will take time. It will be premature to say anything now," Pathak told reporters at the accident site.

'Note on Hosadurga flaw could've averted tragedy'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chitradurga

AN alert loco pilot of Sampark Kranti Express averted a Balasore-like train tragedy on February 8 between Birur and Chikjajur section of Mysuru Division of South Western Railway.

The pilot brought this matter to the notice of Principal Chief Operations Manager (PCOM) of SWR Hari Shankar Verma, who wrote to the General Manager of SWR on February 9, highlighting the grave flaw in the railway safety system.

The letter stated that Sampark Kranti Express was signalled to proceed, but the point was wrongly set towards the Down Line on which a goods train was approaching.

The loco pilot of Sampark Kranti Express, who knew that he had been given a wrong signal, stopped the train immediately near Hosadurga. This action helped in averting a major tragedy.

While observing that the point was set to the Down Main Line (wrong line), Verma stated that the train was supposed to pass through the Up Main Line as per PLCT.

The direction shown was wrong and the alert loco pilot stopped his train before entering the wrong line (Down Line). Had the train proceeded, there would have been a head-on collision with the goods train approaching Hosadurga Road Station in the down direction. If serious attention was given to this note, the train accident at Balasore could have been averted and hundreds of lives could have been saved.

Tenants eligible for Gruha Jyoti

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THOSE living in rented houses are also eligible for 'Gruha Jyoti' guarantee of giving up to 200 units of electricity free of cost for every household per month.

As per the guidelines issued on Monday, if a consumer has more than one power connection in his name, only one will be eligible for this guarantee.

However, speaking to TNIE after holding deliberations with officials, Energy Minister KJ George clarified that the RR (Revenue Register) number, which is a unique identification number given to each electricity connection with a separate meter, will be considered. "So regardless of the landlord or tenants, they are eligible for the scheme provided they have a unique RR number," he said.

He said around Rs 13,000 crore per annum is needed to implement the scheme.

Customers who want to avail the benefit should apply through 'Seva Sindhu' portal. The average consumption for 12 months in the financial year 2022-2023 combined with 10% higher consumption not exceeding 200 units is the condition to avail the benefit. Customers who cross 200 units will have to pay the full electricity bill.

The guarantee will come into force in August against the bill raised for consumption of electricity for July. Zero bill will be given to such customers if it is less than the eligible units or amount.

The existing beneficiaries of Bhagya Jyoti, Kutira Jyoti Yojana and Amrita Jyoti Yojana will be brought under 'Griha Jyoti'.

The scheme is applicable only for domestic electricity connections.

The other conditions are: Bill entry for total electricity consumption while taking meter reading every month.

Deducting the eligible amount of the household electricity user from the bill and giving the net bill to the customer for payment. P4

Women can show any govt ID till they get Shakti cards

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WOMEN who wish to take free bus rides must get Shakti Smart Cards by submitting applications through Seva Sindu portal.

The government has given three months' time to complete the process of issuing Shakti cards which will be verified before allowing them to avail the benefit. Transgenders will also be allowed to travel free of cost.

The government order passed on Wednesday stated that till smart cards are issued, women may produce any identity cards issued by state and union governments with local addresses to travel free of cost within the state.

Shakti scheme will not be applicable on Vajra, Vayu Vajra, Airavata, Airavat Club Class, Airavat Gold Class, Ambari, Ambari Dream Class, Ambari Utsav, Fly bus and EV Power Plus buses. The cost incurred by transport corporations will be reimbursed based on zero ticket/Shakti Smart Card data. The reimbursement will be made on the basis of actual distance travelled by women passengers.

Meanwhile, BMTC sources said conductors will check the local ID and then issue 'zero ticket' by entering the destination. "This way we want to track the total number of tickets issued, women travelled and the cost incurred," sources said.

A RECORD! SIDDU TO PRESENT HIS 14TH BUDGET ON JULY 7

G SUBHASH CHANDRA
@ Davanagere

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah will present his 14th state budget on July 7, which is a record by a finance minister from Karnataka.

Siddaramaiah, who was in the city to take part in the district officials' meeting, told reporters that the budget session will begin with the governor's address on July 3.

The 14th budget will be the most challenging one as Siddaramaiah has to mobilise funds for the implementation of five guarantees promised by his government.

On the size of the budget, Siddaramaiah said that it is being discussed. The vote-on-account budget, which is in force, was presented by the BJP government. It was a Rs 3,90,788-crore election budget. "But we are going to present a fresh budget," he added.

Several rounds of meetings with top officials and all stakeholders have been held. Some more meetings will be held. The cabinet's approval will be obtained shortly for holding the budget session from July 3, Siddaramaiah said.

He said with the monsoon expected to set in anytime, steps have been taken to ensure that farmers face no shortage of fertilizers, seeds, pesticides and insecticides. Deputy commissioners and chief executive officers of zilla panchayats have been instructed to take up relief works in the event of heavy rains and floods without any delay.

BEATS HEGDE

On February 16, 2018, Siddaramaiah presented his 13th state budget and equalled the record of the late chief minister Ramakrishna Hegde. With the July 7 budget, Siddaramaiah will create a new record. However, he is far behind former governor Vajubhai Rudabhai Vala, who has presented 18 budgets in his home state of Gujarat.

Hoskote med student ends life, doc booked

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolar

DARSHINI (26), a postgraduate pediatrics student of MVJ Medical College near Hoskote in Bengaluru rural district, committed suicide by jumping into a quarry lake near Kendatti in Kolar taluk on Sunday.

On a complaint by Darshini's brother Prajval, Kolar rural police have registered a case under Section 306 of IPC against Dr Mahesh, a senior doctor at the college, for allegedly harassing her. However, the college authorities denied any harassment by the management or the senior doctor.

BR Ravikanthe Gowda, Inspector-General of Police, Central Range, told The New Indian Express that a detailed inquiry will be conducted to ascertain the reasons for Darshini taking the extreme step.

Darshini, who hailed from Ballari, completed her MBBS at Koppal College of Medical Sciences and secured a free seat for MD, Paediatrics, at MVJ College.

According to the college authorities, she was a bright student and was friendly with all and there was no reason for her to end her life. The medical superintendent of the college said she never made any harassment complaint with the higher authorities. P3

Airfares surge 10X over weekend, Scindia urges airlines to self-regulate

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

Airfares have surged sharply over the weekend, especially on routes that were earlier serviced by Go First. In some cases, the fare is now 10 times higher than what it what just days ago.

On Monday, the cost of an economy class ticket on a non-stop Delhi-Mumbai flight for Tuesday ranged between ₹16,000 and ₹30,000. On the Delhi-Chennai route, the prices ranged between ₹17,000 and ₹32,000.

To address the situation, Union aviation minister Jyotiraditya Scindia held a meeting with the Airlines Advisory Group and urged all airlines to self-regulate their ticket prices.

"The airlines must self-monitor airfares on certain select routes that have seen considerable surge pricing of late, particularly those that were earlier being serviced by Go First. A mechanism for ensuring reasonable pricing within the high RBDs (Reservation Booking Designator) may be devised by airlines. This shall be monitored by the DGCA," Scindia said after the meeting with the Airlines Advisory Group.

Go First stopped flying on May 3, which led to a reduction of capacity at a time when the peak domestic air travel period is around the corner.

IndiGo and the Air India group have been accused of using the demand-supply mismatch to raise ticket fares.

Mark Martin, founder and CEO of Martin Consulting, said that it is very important for the government to set checks and balances to protect consumers' interests, especially from price cartelisation by airlines. "A fresh body should be enacted to monitor ticket prices on an ongoing basis. India is one of the world's largest aviation markets and therefore it is mandatory that common travelers should not suffer on account of duopolies (referring to IndiGo and Tata Group airlines)," Martin told this newspaper.

Meanwhile, Scindia urged airlines to provide free cargo services to the families of those who died in the Odisha rail accident.

CITY ROLLS OUT GREEN CARPET, STRUMS ECO CHORD

BBMP Forest Cell plants 1,000 saplings, 226 NCC cadets collect 120kg of plastic waste from around Lalbagh Lake

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BENGALURU touched a green chord as citizens celebrated World Environment Day with enthusiasm, participating in planting saplings to encourage sustainable way of living by awarding green warriors.

The 'Garden City' came alive with a slew of initiatives and activities meant to create awareness on protecting the environment.

The state government conferred the Karnataka State Environment Awards on six people at Central College for their contributions. Chief Minister Siddaramaiah gave them the awards.

The Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Forest Cell planted 1,000 saplings across the city on Monday, including in BBMP schools, on roads, and around lakes. "The department also distributed 500 saplings to affiliated and private schools to encourage students to care for the environment and appreciate the significance of trees," said Sareena Sikkaligar, Deputy Conservator of Forest (DCF). The cell also donated more than 600 saplings to NGOs and activists organising plantation drives in their areas. HelpAge India, NGO, involved senior citizens in planting saplings.

Clean it up

Around 226 cadets of the National Cadet Corps (NCC) undertook a cleaning drive around Lalbagh Lake. They collected approximately 120 kg of plastic waste. A similar event was organized in Seegehalli Lake by KR Puram residents where 2,000 saplings were planted, and tree books were distributed to school children.

An interesting campaign was launched by a citizens group, Bengaluru Huduga, to collect single-use pens that are non-degradable and pollute land. Environment Management and Policy Research Institute arranged a 'drop e-waste and take home a sapling' programme.

BMTC on eco route

Plantation drivers were organised in all units and divisional offices of the Bengaluru Metropolitan Transport Corporation. Already, around 12,000 saplings were planted by the department in 2022-23. At present, the corporation is in the process of procuring 10 electric AC buses with financial assistance from National Clean Air Project (NCAP) and the Directorate of Urban Land Transport. Last year, 485 buses were decommissioned and 1,118 buses are on the list to be decommissioned.

DKS: Plant saplings in the name of school kids

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar instructed the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) officials to plant saplings in the name of school children after coordinating with city schools.

On World Environment Day, the Bengaluru Development Minister said that Palike should provide the saplings and tree guards. "Children should be allowed to put their names on the guard, and the sapling should be maintained by them. A competition should be organised regarding this. Children would be happy to take care of the saplings," he said at the launch of a programme to plant saplings in Rachenahalli lake premises.

Shivakumar also sought a report on how many roads in the city lack trees. He suggested that local school children be roped in to plant saplings on those roads.

"A plan should be drawn up within a month to make this idea work. This is the first task for the city corporation officials. We can be healthy only if we protect the environment," he said.

He said that a nominal fee be charged for tying up with private schools as "nothing comes for free".

Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda, MLA AC Srinivas, BBMP Administrator Rakesh Singh, BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath, Special Commissioner Jayaram Raipura, and Deputy Conservator of Forest Sarina Sikkaligar were present at the event.

NLSIU best law school for 6th time, IISc retains 2nd spot

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

SEVEN higher educational institutions from Karnataka are in the top 100 of the National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF) 2023.

The Indian Institute of Science (IISc) retained its second spot with 83.09 score. IISc was also ranked the best research institute above IIT-Madras and IIT-Delhi.

IISc has also outranked JNU. IISc officials told TNIE, "It's an annual practice, institutions apply and get ranked." In total, 10 institutions in Karnataka were rated the best universities.

Nimhans ranked 48 of 100 institutions in the research category. Among medical colleges, Nimhans came fourth in India, while Kasturba Medical College, Manipal was 9th, and St John's Medical College 19th. Among dental colleges, Manipal College of Dental Sciences bagged the 2nd spot and AB Shetty Memorial Institute of Dental Sciences 5th.

Dr Prathima Murthy, Nimhans director, said with just PG degrees in mental health and neuro sciences, they are able to keep up the rank over many years.

Manipal Academy of Higher Education secured the 16th spot with NIT Karnataka in Surathkal grabbing the 38th rank in the best university category.

Two universities from Mysuru -- JSS Academy of Higher Education and Research and Mysore University -- were ranked 55 and 71, respectively.

VTU in Belagavi bagged the 92nd rank and Christ University in Bengaluru 100th.

In the best college category, St. Joseph's College of Commerce, Bengaluru, and St. Aloysius College, Mangaluru, ranked 65 and 80, respectively.

In the management segment, IIM-Bangalore ranked second with IIM Ahmedabad topping the list.

National Law School of India University (NLSIU) continues to be on the top among law institutions for six times in a row. "Since 2020, the University has committed itself to a radical and comprehensive transformation to redefine the future of legal education in India," said NLSIU vice-chancellor Prof Sudhir Krishnaswamy.

In the pharmacy category, JSS College of Pharmacy and Manipal College and Manipal College of Pharmaceutical Sciences secured the 7th and 9th ranks, respectively. BMS School of Architecture secured 21st rank and MS Ramaiah Institute of Technology 23rd under the 'architecture' category.

Tremendous coordination on display as people plant 1,000 fruit tree saplings in 60 seconds | EXPRESS

1k fruit tree saplings planted in 1 min

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

A TOTAL of 1,000 fruit tree saplings were planted in 60 seconds on Monday. Do not get flummoxed as AFCONS, carrying out work for BMRCL from Jayanagar Fire station (near Dairy Circle) to Vellara Junction of the Underground corridor of Phase-II, backed by other organisations achieved this feat between 10 am and 10.01 am.

A senior BMRCL official said the trees were planted in the periphery of the Rashtriya Military School campus and inside the Corps of Military Police Centre and School.

"This required two days of preparations. The pits had to be dug and kept ready for all the saplings. A total of 1,000 people were involved with each assigned one sapling," he said. AFCONS spent around ₹3 lakh to procure the saplings from the Forest department. Giving a break-up, a representative said, "We planted jackfruit (200), Tabebuia Rosea (100), badam tree (150), Jamun (200), mango (150) and 50 each of fig, Jacaranda, Simarouba, Pongamia, Lemon, Pomegranate, Amla and Guava." AFCONS would maintain them till the construction work gets over. Later, the schools will take care of them, another Metro official said.

Top BMRCL officers, including D Radhakrishna Reddy, Director, Projects and Planning, S Hegaraddi, Executive Director (Civil), Major Vikas Saroha, Officiating Principal and Administrative Officer of RMS participated.

Delay in BBMP elections hampering B'luru development, says Reddy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TRANSPORT Minister Ramalinga Reddy said that Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) would be without an elected body for three straight years on September 10. Reddy had held a meeting with a committee of the BBMP on Sunday, and invited inputs from the members.

He said the city's development is being hampered in the absence of an elected body. "Many members are in favour of holding elections at the earliest. Even Chief Minister Siddaramaiah wants the same. We are awaiting a court verdict regarding BBMP elections. Meanwhile, Congress leaders in Bengaluru have been told to be prepared. The government will make reservations and try to hold polls soon," he said.

Many members said that the previous BJP government had done an injustice by removing many wards. Committee members discussed how the previous government altered many wards on the pretext of delimitation, and in some Assembly segments in Gandhinagar, all wards are now reserved for women. Members demanded that the government hold elections in November based on the reservation matrix.

"We are awaiting the decision of the court. The government will hold elections, and also work on reservations," Reddy said, adding another meeting regarding BBMP elections will be held soon.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

06TH June: A few years ago, I attended a debate between some of our top scientists about the possibilities of life on other planets. Some very influential attendees said it was unlikely because life on earth was so delicate that the chances of life arising elsewhere were very slim. Most people no longer agree with this, though.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The Moon is in a combustible mood, so you may expect social plans to flare up. There's a good deal of romance in the air today, and it's all a question of finding the right circumstances - and the right person! Plus, you may be attracted to a good cause rather than a dream lover.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Your stars are generally favourable and it's unlikely that you'll be pushed in any one single direction. Be positive and colleagues and employers will be more likely to see your point of view and offer assistance. But listen carefully to partners - or they'll hold it against you.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Domestic plans are now becoming urgent, and it's clear that there are one or two vital improvements to make. You may, however, be feeling over-burdened by your obligations, so do your best to shift the backlog now. Hard work will win respect - as you know!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The Sun merges with positive planets in a delightful manner, and will slowly but surely have a healing effect on partnerships which have suffered in the past. Romance will be stirring deep in your sensitive soul, so I hope that other people will be in a similar mood.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Once again, the Moon issues an emotional challenge, so other people's interests will come first. You have so far only glimpsed the depths of the commitment which someone is prepared to offer. Give them another chance. After all, partners have given you second chances in the past.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
If you want to avoid tedious chores, you'll have to make a complete break with routine. If, as seems likely, there are responsibilities you can't cancel, you must take life at a careful pace. Plus, you must also consider letting a friend into a secret - when you're ready.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Keep your eyes open for hidden developments which could affect your long-term future. There's much going on of which you are still only half aware, but which will have incredible consequences on your life over the next six months. And that's quite a thought!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Colourful social events are coming. However, you may receive an important item of news which requires a serious and well-considered response. You're tempted to rush decisions, but you should feel free to take your time. After all, more haste, less speed, as they say.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
It's a useful day to consider serious long-term questions. Any news which arrives today is likely to have consequences which go beyond the purely personal, whatever seems to be the case at first sight. Somehow, even complete strangers may be involved in the unfolding pattern.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Close partners are beginning to lay off - and you might have an easier ride in future. You'd better take a look at your financial commitments, mainly because today you seem to have a better than average chance of hitting upon what needs to be done to guarantee future security.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
The tide is definitely flowing in your direction, although financial complications are inevitable, mainly because you are about to hit an extravagant phase. Small precautions will help: keep spare cash available and don't bite off more than you can chew.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Colleagues will be in a lively mood, although agreement may not be easily reached. The most difficult phase of the current cycle is over and, if you've prepared the ground, promised improvements will arrive sooner than expected. You'll breathe a sigh of relief - soon!

Jinxed? Bad design, dumped bodies, mishap dog SMVT

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE aesthetically pleasing Sir M Visvesvaraya Terminal at Baiyappanahalli, touted as a model railway station with air-conditioned interiors, appears to be dogged by recurring problems, both before and after construction.

The latest incident involves the unprecedented triple train accident in Indian Railways history on June 2 in Odisha, involving nearly 1,300 passengers who departed to Howrah on the Sir M Visvesvaraya Howrah Superfast Express, from this terminal.

Modelled on the lines of Kempegowda International Airport (KIA), the station even has a structure similar to the Air Traffic Control (ATC) room. The Rs 314-crore station was opened for commercial operations on June 6, 2022 -- three years after the final deadline was given, and earlier deadlines were missed. However, no other station in South Western Railway Zone seems to be saddled with so many issues, forcing the thought whether the station is jinxed.

Three days before the horrendous accident, heavy wind and rain blew away chunks of the station's beams and ceilings, forcing passengers to run for their lives. They were also heading for Howrah, and were squatting on the ground due to the delay. Massive repair works are to be undertaken immediately. Seven months ago, the same ceiling gave way, but on a minor scale.

On March 18 this year, the highly decomposed body of a woman was found strangled and dumped at the entrance of the terminal. On December 8, 2022, a sack with a woman's body reached the station by the Bangarpet-SMVT Memu Special.

Though the station was completed over a year ago (in June 2021), South Western Railway Zone was forced to keep it unused since PM Narendra Modi was keen to inaugurate it. Bowing to huge public demand, it finally started a few trains in June last year, while the inauguration happened later. Massive publicity was generated during the construction stage itself, as it was to be a model station.

A month after the June 2019 deadline expired, fundamental flaws were detected in the design, with the platform falling short of the length of the train by 70 metres. This would force passengers to disembark on the tracks. The plan had to be taken back to the drawing board. The move to open the station in two phases was shelved. Top officials responsible for the goof-up were transferred.

Even as the station lay idle, heavy rain resulted in water seeping into the control room for station masters, raising fear of the damage caused to costly and crucial equipment. SWR initially tried to downplay it and claimed the leaks never happened, but videos showed otherwise. It later ended up rectifiying the glass doors through which water came in.

Massive publicity was generated during SMVT's construction stage itself, as it was to be a model station

Succession should be on paternal side to claim archak's post

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court said the line of succession should be on the paternal side and not the maternal side, to claim the post of 'archak' on a hereditary basis.

Justice NS Sanjay Gowda passed the order recently, while dismissing the petitions filed by MS Ravi Dixit and MS Venkatesh Dixit, sons of MN Subramanya Dixit, who was the archak of Sri Mahabalesharaswamy Temple at KR Puram in Bengaluru East taluk.

The court said it is not in dispute that in order to claim hereditary archakship, it would be necessary that not only the father of the petitioners but also their grandfather and great-grandfather should have performed the role of archaks in the temple, and merely because their father had performed the role of archak in 1979, the petitioners cannot claim to be hereditary archaks.

The court further said that admittedly, only the father of the petitioners, MN Subramanya Dixit, had been performing pooja in the temple, and before him, it was Nanjunda Dixit, his father-in-law -- or maternal grandfather of the petitioners -- who was performing puja. Since the petitioners admit their maternal grandfather was performing puja, they cannot claim that archakship is hereditary, the court added.

The commissioner also recorded that the late Subramanya Dixit had been appointed in August 1979, and his father-in-law late Nanjunda Dixit had been working as archak for 45 years, as per the letter addressed to the Tahsildar. It was, therefore, held that since the archakship was traceable only towards the maternal side of the petitioners, they would not be entitled to a claim of hereditary archakship. Challenging this, the petitioners approached the high court.

Victim told friend about suicide

MEANWHILE addressing reporters, Darshini's brother Prajval alleged that Dr Mahesh used to harass Darshini. She had informed him and their parents about this. She had also alleged that the college management was not allowing her to take rest and she faced work pressure.

Kolar police said preliminary investigation revealed that Darshini reportedly hired an autorickshaw to Kendatti quarry, which is around 25 km from the college. After reaching the quarry, she reportedly telephoned one of her friends to say that she was going to end her life. Before her friend could alert the police and college authorities, she jumped into the quarry lake. A man, who spotted the body a few hours later, informed the police. A police team rushed to the quarry lake and recovered the body.

Toll plaza worker killed over toll fee on E-way

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 26-year-old toll plaza worker was murdered by some men after an argument over paying the toll fee at Seshagirihalli toll plaza on the Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway in Bidadi police station limits of Ramanagara taluk on Monday. The victim has been identified as Pawan Kumar, a resident of Karikal Thandya of Bengaluru South taluk.

A group of men travelling in a car around 11.30 pm towards the city from Mysuru refused to pay up at the toll plaza, which led to a heated argument between them and the toll workers, including Kumar. Both the groups even exchanged fisticuffs. Passersby separated both of them. The accused, who were waiting in the car near Hejjala, saw the victim taking a break to have dinner. They followed and murdered him by attacking him reportedly with a hockey stick. The victim was the first to attack the accused. Search for the accused is on.

A video clip of the incident which has gone viral shows when both the parties had engaged in an verbal altercation, Kumar who runs from behind to support his colleagues punches one of the men from the car. The accused then attacks Kumar and both the parties exchange fisticuffs. One of the other toll staff has also sustained injuries. It is not clear among the men in the car, how many had been involved in the fight as two are seen standing next to the car.

Minister meets health officials, reviews tenders

BENGALURU: Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao on Monday held a meeting with the health department and took stock of the situation. At a meeting that lasted nearly three hours at Arogya Soudha, Gundu Rao discussed issues pertaining to government tenders and files which are awaiting approvals among others. Randeep briefed the minister on his health status, took stock of the situation. "This is the third meeting. There was no specific agenda for the meeting. We updated him about many things like the emergency ambulance services (108) and Arogyavani (104) among others. He reviewed the status of government tenders." Randeep said the minister took time to understand the problems in depth and asked officials to take quick decisions.

Suspicious man murders wife, mutilates genitals

ENS @ Bengaluru

A 35-year-old man allegedly hacked his wife to death and stabbed her genitals multiple times over the suspicion that she was having an extramarital affair. The murder took place in the couple's house on 15th Main in Manjunathanagar, in Basaveshwaranagar police limits, on Sunday night.

The victim was identified as Nagarathna, 32, who worked at a garment shop in Rajajinagar. The accused, Ayyappa, as a labourer in City Market, was arrested. Nagarathna was an orphan, and the accused had married her around 11 years ago. The couple has two children, including an 11-year-old boy and a 7-year-old girl. Ayyappa had left them at his sister's house before committing the murder. The family earlier lived near Siddaganga School in Shivanagar, and had moved to the present house around five months ago.

"The duo used to have frequent fights as the accused suspected his wife's fidelity. The woman reportedly did not heed his warnings. On Sunday, the two children went to their aunt's house at Bovipalya. Around 8.20 pm, when Nagarathna was reportedly sleeping, the accused is alleged to have banged her head on the floor. He then hacked her to death and even stabbed her private parts multiple times," said an officer.

On receiving information, Basaveshwaranagar police rushed to the spot and arrested the accused.

Special task force to look into devpt of B'luru

DKS seeks cooperation from all MLAs; Meet discusses water, garbage, traffic plans

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE state government is planning to constitute a special task force, comprising various experts and stakeholders, for the overall development of Bengaluru. The Global Bengaluru Advisory Committee will look into all issues, including traffic, water supply and other amenities, Deputy CM DK Shivakumar said.

Stressing the need to make 'Brand Bengaluru' a better Bengaluru, he said they will meet stakeholders like former CM SM Krishna, who used to hold similar meetings.

At a meeting of Bengaluru legislators on Monday, Shivakumar urged MLAs, cutting across party lines, to join hands with the state government to develop the capital. They discussed various issues, including drinking water, garbage disposal, traffic master plan and encroachment of storm water drains.

He suggested that officials maintain a separate file for each ward of Bengaluru, where officials record ongoing and completed works. "They need to stress on accountability and transparency," he said. They should also have a record of garbage disposal, to track where garbage is sent and till it is disposed of. There were also suggestions on remodelling BDA complexes.

Shivakumar urged legislators to cooperate for Bengaluru's development, and put politics behind them. "Now that elections are over, let us not talk politics. Let us keep our ideologies aside and work for the city together. If you have any suggestions, send them to me," he told them. "You (MLAs) might be from any party, let us not mix politics here. If you really wish to bring in politics, I am ready for it. I don't believe in hate politics," he added.

> DK Shivakumar, Deputy Chief Minister

Recalling that former Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee had stressed the importance of putting Bengaluru on the global map, Shivakumar said the same had been emphasised by present Prime Minister Narendra Modi. "This is also why we need to work together to maintain Bengaluru's dignity," he said.

People in Bengaluru are deprived of basic amenities and also suffer from corruption. "We need to resolve this, it is our duty too," he said.

On water supply, Shivakumar directed officials to give him data of assembly-wise water supply. "I want to know if water is supplied as per population," Shivakumar said.

Bengaluru makes a major contribution to the country's economic development, in the form of taxes like GST, cess and other levies paid to the Central government. "We need to bring our share and use it for Bengaluru's development," he said.

Siddu moves in zero traffic, irks common man

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Davanagere

AFTER assuming charge as Chief Minister, Siddaramaiah had publicly announced doing away with the zero traffic norm for his movement, earning respect from the public. However, the situation turned out to be different in Davanagere on Monday. Citizens were forced to stand for around 10 minutes in the scorching sun on Hadadi Road, to make way for the free movement of Siddaramaiah's motorcade.

At around 1.10 pm, the CM, while travelling to the residence of Mines and Geology Minister SS Mallikarjun for lunch, took the free road. However, this led to the public being stopped and made to stand in the unbearable summer heat. Many questioned the CM.

Krishna Prasad, a banker who was supposed to cross the district stadium towards the KTJ Nagar, said, "The police forced me to stand for about 10 minutes in the sun. Though there is delay in the CM's movement, they are not allowing us to move. There should be some system which will not disturb the citizens."

Netravathi, a student at DRM science college, said, "I was supposed to collect the TC from the college but, couldn't move as the cops had blocked the road. The Chief Minister should consider the issue seriously and follow the very statements he had made earlier."

MORAL POLICING WILL NOT BE TOLERATED, WARNS CM

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, who held a detailed review of various departments in Davanagere district, told officials and the public that moral policing will not be tolerated henceforth. Addressing Superintendent of Police Dr Arun K, he said, "No one should be allowed to take law into their hands and the police should be alert to avert such incidents. Everyone should cooperate in maintaining law and order. If anyone is found indulging in moral policing, action should be initiated. Everyone is equal before the law."

BJP protests against hike in power tariff

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BJP workers staged protests in several parts of the state opposing hike in power tariff and Animal Husbandry Minister K Venkatesh's remarks on the Karnataka Prevention of the Cow Slaughter Act.

The BJP accused the Congress-led state government's move of increasing the power tariff within two days of announcing up to 200 units of free power to every household and demanded that it should be withdrawn. They have also questioned the government's decision on imposing several conditions to avail the benefit of free power that was promised by the Congress in the run-up to the polls.

The party leaders have also warned the government that they will launch large-scale protests if the government makes any attempt to withdraw the cow slaughter act. Former CM Basavaraj Bommai said the Congress government will have to face the consequences if it tries to make any changes in the Act. The Act was there since the 1960s and the BJP government made changes to it to impose stringent punishment against those violating it, he added.

The party leaders also accused the government of targeting BJP workers by booking false cases against them.

Former ministers, MLAs and leaders took part in the protests held in different parts of the state on Monday, while BJP MLAs, MPs, and office-bearers of the Bengaluru unit will take part in a protest demonstration near Freedom Park in Bengaluru on Tuesday morning.

'I walked out of DKS meet as he was late by 1 hr'

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

"I walked out of the BBMP meeting convened by Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar to discuss preparations ahead of monsoon as he himself was not present for more than an hour," Malleswaram BJP MLA Dr CN Ashwath Narayan told The New Indian Express here on Monday.

He said, "Along with me, Byrati Basavraj, ST Somashekar, N Muniraju and other BJP leaders walked out."

This seemed to be the continuation of a rift between Shivakumar and Ashwath Narayan, two powerful Vokkaliga leaders. Before the polls, Shivakumar's brother DK Suresh, who is an MP, was infuriated over Ashwath Narayan's statement and had expressed his anger at a public function.

On Animal Husbandry Minister K Venkatesh's statement that cow slaughter is not wrong if buffaloes are killed for meat, he said, "Cow is Kamadhenu. How can we kill a cow?" The other communities need to understand this and accept it as important, he added.

On non-elected BJP members raising issues and MLAs keeping quiet, he said, "Congress is going through its honeymoon phase. Let them settle down with their programmes and policies and then we will respond. Today, we protested on the cow slaughter issue. Tomorrow, at Freedom Park, elected members and others will stage a protest on important issues."

On BJP's poll debacle, he said, "We cannot introspect in public. The party will come back with 150 seats in the next election as Congress will destroy itself."

Asked if the party will depend on the Modi factor for the upcoming parliamentary polls, he replied in the affirmative and said that is because Modi is the tallest leader.

On his winning the election, while other ministers, including Govind Karjol, B Sriramulu, JC Madhu Swamy, BC Nagesh, V Somanna and others facing defeat, he said BJP has strong support in Bengaluru.

Asked whether BJP focussed more on the Hindutva than on Lingayat support, which fell 20-25 percent in different constituencies, he claimed, "BJP emphasises on development, nationalism and good governance. We are an inclusive, not a divisive, party. We are not tuned to caste and community equations."

THE arrears of electricity charges due at the end of June 30, 2023 (including the amount of bill issued in July 2023 for the amount of electricity used in June 2023) shall be paid within three months. If the arrears are not paid within the prescribed period, such customers will get their power supply disconnected. Installation of meter and meter reading for domestic electricity consumer plants made mandatory.

The government has issued the guidelines following approval for the guarantee by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's cabinet on June 2.

The government will provide subsidy to power supply companies (ESCOMS) in advance, including the subsidy amount related to the implementation of the guarantee and the subsidy related to the fuel and power purchase cost adjustment fee (FPPGA - Fuel and Power Purchase Cost Adjustment) to be fixed in the coming months.

JDS, BJP likely to work together to take on Cong govt in LS elections

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

AFTER a poor show in the recent Karnataka Assembly elections, the Janata Dal (Secular), apart from preparing for the elections to the BBMP and zilla and taluk panchayats, may consider the possibility of joining hands with the BJP to take on the Congress government. The regional party won 19 seats in the Assembly elections.

"It all depends on the outcome of the BBMP and ZP/TP polls. It is too early to judge whether JDS will go all alone in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections or ally with like-minded parties," a JDS leader told The New Indian Express.

But senior JDS leader and former CM HD Kumaraswamy's recent visit to New Delhi has created a buzz in corridors of power with a few informed sources saying that he might have held talks with BJP top brass leaders. The JDS had fought the 2019 Lok Sabha elections in an alliance with the Congress and the both the parties managed to win one seat each — Hassan (JDS) and Bengaluru Rural (Congress). Since their secular vote base was similar, it might have led to the defeat. But an alliance with BJP in 6-8 seats, direct or tacitly, might benefit both the parties to some extent, feel political pundits.

Kumaraswamy might have also held deliberations with BJP leaders in the national capital to explore the possibility of JDS and BJP working together to take on the Siddaramaiah-led Congress government.

Meanwhile, the BJP is yet to select its Leader of Opposition in the Assembly. Former CM Bsavaraj Bommai had recently said that the appointment of LoP will be done before the commencement of the Assembly session. The Budget session will start from July 3. The JDS and BJP may also coordinate and corner the government on certain issues.

Govt staff give up BPL cards fearing scrutiny

AMIT S UPADHYE @ Koppal

IN a surprise development, instances of government staffers returning their BPL cards have increased in Koppal district over the last few weeks. Many officials across the state are alleged to have illegally possessed BPL cards, and surrender them from time to time. But this trend has been increasing more recently, after the new government announced its guarantees.

It is learnt that the beneficiaries of guarantee schemes are required to go through an ID check, and it is possible that the officials at the Food and Civil Supplies Department could identify fake IDs. Many government employees allegedly show low income and secure BPL cards. Upon return of the cards, they are penalised, depending on the benefits availed and the time the card was in their possession.

A senior official from the Koppal district administration said that in the last one month, 22 government employees, of which four were from the police department have returned their BPL cards. "Depending on the time period, we have fined them between Rs 1,000 and Rs 10,000. In the last six months, we have received 234 cards from various government employees and individuals. So far, a fine amount to the tune of Rs 7 lakh has been recovered from such offenders," explained the official.

"After the announcement of the guarantee schemes, it becomes important to have documents and also have a linkage in case it is demanded. For instance, linking of PAN card and Aadhaar is an added advantage for the beneficiaries of Gruha Lakshmi scheme, where the woman owner of the house will get Rs 2,000," he added.

Several activists have been demanding the government to identify and punish those who have acquired BPL cards illegally. "The government schemes must reach the right beneficiary and not those who already have enough money and got the card illegally," suggested an activist.

WHY WE CANNOT FORGET S R BOMMAI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

IT was 11 March 1994. Somappa Rayappa Bommai had won. He was fighting for justice which had evaded him even as the chief minister of Karnataka.

Long and drawn-out was the path to victory... SR Bommai, the 15th chief minister of Karnataka, emerged triumphant in a landmark judgement delivered by the Supreme Court of India. In this momentous case, the court engaged in extensive deliberation, delving deep into the intricate provisions of Article 356 of the Constitution of India and its interrelated matters. The apex court articulated explicit limitations on the authority of the Centre to dismiss a state government under Article 356. This case reverberated with immense magnitude, leaving an indelible imprint on the intricate tapestry of Centre-state relations.

Whether Bommai, born on this day in 1924, emerged victorious or suffered defeat holds little significance. What truly matters is his ability to forge a new paradigm in politics, in accordance with the prevailing demands of the time.

As an unwavering champion of justice, he persistently fought for what he believed in, even during his tenure as chief minister of Karnataka.

His visionary ideas and actions exemplified his unwavering commitment to the welfare of Karnataka, serving as a testament to his indomitable passion for the state. Guided by the revolutionary and radical activist, as well as the eminent political theorist, Manabendra Nath Roy, his efforts stand as a testament to his dedication to the progressive transformation of the region.

Since an early stage, his dedication to Karnataka impelled him to actively engage in numerous mass movements that ardently championed the state's interests. Being intimately involved in these movements, which ultimately led to the establishment of Karnataka, Bommai consistently prioritised the welfare of its people.

In his capacity as the Chief Minister of Karnataka and through his influential ministerial roles, he orchestrated profound and enduring transformations that continue to shape the state's trajectory in the contemporary era. Throughout his tenure in the state government, Bommai deftly seized opportunities to steer Karnataka towards a path of socio-economic progress and expedited industrialisation, thereby etching an indelible legacy through his visionary policies. Notably, his instrumental role in inviting Texas Instruments to Bangalore served as a catalyst for the revolutionary IT boom.

Under the leadership of Ramakrishna Hegde, Bommai orchestrated the remarkable industrial makeover of Karnataka. Guided by his statesmanship and a clear understanding of the aspirations of the state's populace, Bommai recognised the necessity for an inclusive and evenly distributed model of economic growth.

His profound empathy for the plight of farmers was cultivated during his tenure as an opposition leader in the Karnataka Assembly. Bommai fearlessly confronted the government's failures, exposing their shortcomings within the Assembly.

In 1985, as the head of the Revenue Department, Bommai implemented numerous measures aimed at streamlining the complex procedures surrounding revenue documentation, land taxation, land measurement and property registration.

Bommai's notable contributions in drought-proofing Karnataka are well-documented by political commentators within the state.

Instrumental in the formation of Karnataka's first non-Congress government, Bommai exemplified versatility and statesmanship. A man of immense compassion and foresight, he silently laboured for the betterment of the state and its underprivileged citizens, playing pivotal roles in state politics during the 1970s, 1980s, and 1990s.

Despite his remarkable achievements, he departed the scene with humility and minimal fanfare.

The New Indian Express* will be unveiling a coffee-table book today, 'SR Bommai: The Radical Humanist', reflecting on the life of SR Bommai.

TRACKS RESTORED, 60 TRAINS CROSS ACCIDENT SITE

Trains include goods, Vande Bharat Express; Ashwini Vaishnaw holds high-level meeting

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bhubaneswar

WITH resumption of train services on Up and Down lines after restoration of damaged tracks at the accident site in Bahanaga, Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw on Monday said the situation is fast returning to normalcy. After a review of post-restoration situation at a high-level meeting at Rail Sadan here in the presence of Union ministers Mansukh Mandaviya and Dharmendra Pradhan, Vaishnaw said around 60 trains have already passed through the affected section since late Sunday night.

People light candles in memory of the victims of the railway tragedy, in Bhubaneswar on Monday | EXPRESS

"Our focus now is on contacting the family members of the deceased whose bodies have been kept in different hospitals and remain unclaimed. We have instructed railway staff of West Bengal, Jharkhand, Bihar and other places to continue their search to locate the family members and relatives of the deceased passengers for handing over of the bodies," Vaishnaw told mediapersons before departing for Delhi.

In order to facilitate those who are still unaware of the whereabouts of their relatives, Vaishnaw said Indian Railways with the support of Odisha government has taken an initiative to locate them. "I appeal to all family members, relatives, friends and well-wishers of the passengers affected in this unfortunate accident to contact the Railways, the Odisha government and its agencies. We are ready to help and provide all logistics support to deliver the bodies to them," he said.

Vaishnaw said the photographs of the deceased, lists of passengers admitted in different hospitals and unidentified bodies are available in Odisha government websites. The Railways has also provided the helpline number 139 and BMC helpline number 18003450061/1929 for connecting the families of passengers affected in the mishap. The municipal commissioner office, Bhubaneswar, has established a control room to provide information and also assist the families.

Signalling system at Hosadurga similar to Bahanaga Bazar station

THE Bahanaga Bazar station, where the tragedy occured, has a layout similar to that of Hosadurga Road Station. The signalling system is almost the same.

The letter raised questions about how the electronics signal maintainer could have altered the interlocking without opening the relay room in violation of the Railway Board's guidelines. It also referred to signalling cables, which are often brought to the junction box at the yard, before being routed to the relay room as a temporary set up and suggested that once the relay room is ready, the signalling cables should be dismantled and the cables sent back to the relay room immediately. However, it was not done at Hosadurga Road Station.

"This setup makes it susceptible to meddling and interference with the interlocking system. The Operations Department had stressed the need for correcting the system immediately, including sensitising the staffers to avoid shortcuts that could lead to major accidents," the letter stated. A senior railway official said the safety protocol should be given priority henceforth. With the letter going viral, railway commuters have started demanding a thorough investigation into the incident, he added.

Tragedy after the crash: It's an agonising wait for kin

SURAJ KUMAR (19) of Basudevpur in Bihar has been urging the administration to inform his family back home he is alive and safe.

Kumar, who was injured in the train mishap near Bahanaga Bazar in Odisha's Balasore district, is undergoing treatment at the ward of the Eye department of SCB Medical College and Hospital. He said his mobile phone went missing after the mishap and he does not remember the phone number of any of his family member or relative.

While Kumar is anxious of his loved ones' concern, several people are unable to trace their kin who were travelling in the ill-fated trains. Sarifuddin Shaikh (45) of Murshidabad in West Bengal who along with his five other relatives reached SCB Medical College and Hospital at 1 pm on Monday failed to trace his nephew Safikul Shaikh alias Mirazul despite a frantic search of over one-and-a-half hour.

Shaikh said Safikul (25) worked as a mason and was returning home in a general compartment of Coromandel Express. He had even talked with his family members just an hour before the accident. "His mobile phone has remained switched off after the mishap. We have already searched for him at hospitals in Balasore, Soro and AIIMS, Bhubaneswar. His name is not mentioned either in the list of dead or injured. Oh Allah! Keep him alive," wailed Shaikh.

In another incident, a cheque of ₹2 lakh given to Sahim Mansur (32) of Maheshpur in Bihar's Bhagalpur who lost both his legs in the accident and is undergoing treatment at the Trauma ICU was lost by his wife Kabila Bibi.

While an FIR in this regard was filed at the medical police outpost, the administration has brought the matter to the notice of the railway authorities requesting to cancel the cheque and issue a new one. On the day while three patients were discharged, 4 were referred from Balasore hospital and admitted to SCB MCH.

176 victims identified

Even as the Odisha government started the process of identification and handing over of bodies of the deceased to the next of kin, about 100 are yet to be identified. Chief secretary Pradeep Jena on Monday said 176 bodies (91 in Bhubaneswar and 85 in Balasore) have been identified so far.

Woman fakes husband's death to claim ex-gratia, caught

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Balasore

LURED by the ₹10 lakh compensation announced for the kin of persons killed in Bahanaga train accident, a woman of Cuttack tried to pass off her husband as one of the victims by producing fake document on Monday.

The woman, identified as Gitanjali Dutta (35) of Maniabandha village within Badamaba police limits in Cuttack, approached the Industrial Town police in Balasore claiming that her 40-year-old husband Bijay Dutta was killed in the tragic mishap. However, her bluff was called as police found her husband alive and well.

Sources said accompanied by a man, Gitanjali on Sunday went to the mishap site at Bahanaga and asked locals about the whereabouts of bodies retrieved from mangled coaches of the Coromandel Express. She claimed that her husband was one of the victims travelling in the ill-fated train.

The woman then went to the premises of the business park of North Orissa Chamber of Commerce and Industry where the bodies had been kept. She started to wail before the police claiming that she is unable to find the body of her husband even after searching SCB Medical College and Hospital in Cuttack and the accident site at Bahanaga. To authenticate her claims, she also submitted the photo copy of her husband's Aadhaar card.

On verifying the document, police were shocked to find the age of Gitanjali's to be 60 though she looked much younger. The Industrial Town police immediately rang their Badamba counterparts in Cuttack and sought details about the woman and her husband.

Within a few moments, Badamaba police confirmed that Bijay was alive and he did not travel in Coromandel Express as claimed by Gitanjali. It was also found that the woman forged the Aadhaar card to claim the compensation amount of ₹10 lakh.

Police personnel present at the spot detained the woman and informed their higher officials about the situation. Sources said top officials of the district police directed the cops to release the woman to avoid 'unnecessary tension'. Subsequently, Gitanjali was let off with a warning.

Nudity should not be tied to sex, says HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kochi

THE Kerala High Court on Monday observed that nudity should not be tied to sex and the mere sight of the naked upper body of a woman should not be deemed sexual or obscene by default. The court made the observation while discharging activist Rehana Fathima in a case registered for posting a video on social media in which her two minor children were seen painting on her semi-nude body.

The prosecution stated that the naked upper body of the petitioner is exposed in the video, and hence it is obscene and indecent. "There is no reason to believe that an ordinary man viewing the video would become depraved, debased and encouraged to lasciviousness. In the strict sense, the petitioner did not show her bare chest, as the body paint covered her breast. It can never arouse any sexually explicit feeling in the mind of a prudent man," said Justice Kauser Edappagath.

The court observed that the depiction of the naked body of a woman cannot per se be termed obscene, indecent, or sexually explicit. 'My Body, My Choice'— an iconic tagline coined by the prochoice movement in the early '70s to represent bodily autonomy and gender equality — continues to be an expression of the rights women deserve and is still consistently used by women rights activists across the globe as a powerful retaliation to sexist societal ideas and archaic patriarchy. The body is the most fundamental space over which an individual shall have autonomy, the court stated.

Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah water a plant to mark World Environment Day, in Bengaluru on Monday | EXPRESS

USE POWER, WATER JUDICIOUSLY: SIDDARAMAIAH

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, who was also present, said citizens must use power and water judiciously. The government announcing 200 units of free power does not mean consumers use excessive power. Even if their requirement is 50 units, people should have discernment and act wisely. He said the BJP was instigating people to do so, and added that reasonable restrictions are necessary and even under law, reasonable restrictions are allowed. Everyone should follow the set rules.

KSPCB, forest department should make industries accountable: DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Monday directed the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) and forest department to be accountable and set timelines for works announced.

KSPCB should enter into agreements with industries, factories and building construction firms to make them accountable for the service they render society and the environment, Shivakumar said. It could be in the form of road works or creating plantations. The areas taken up for afforestation and improvement should be documented and uploaded on social media. Based on the progress of work, they should be awarded, he said.

Shivakumar was speaking at the World Environment Day celebrations held in the city, organised by KSPCB and the forest department. "The departments are doing whatever they want, and I want to say that that you are not doing a good job. A new government is here, and people have expectations from us. The government wants accountability from you all."

A similar direction was issued to Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), to enter into agreements with schools, he said. Narrating an anecdote, he said he had been invited to Rachenahalli Lake for World Environment Day, where he was asked to plant a sapling.

"The area is already green, and they wanted me to plant a sapling with my name. I did not agree to do it as there was no basic common sense in greening an already green area. Instead, they should plant saplings where they are required, and maintain an account. Schoolchildren should be roped in. Each child should plant a sapling and maintain a detailed report of its growth and take care of it. They should share photographs on social media, and if government bodies are not supportive, it should be pointed out," he said.

Pointing to KSPCB Chairman Shanth A Thimmaiah, Shivakumar said that neither he nor the government was permanent. Thus, he must ensure that till such time he is there, there is accountability and stringent actions by the Board. Environment, Forest and Ecology Minister Eshwar Khandre said the government will bring in more stringent rules to control plastic pollution. Hospitals not following waste disposal norms will be dealt with strictly, and IT-BT firms not managing their e-waste will be penalised.

K-FON gives wings to net-for-all plan

T'PURAM: Six years after announcing its intention to make access to the internet a basic right, the Left government on Monday launched its most ambitious project to this end — the Kerala Fibre Optic Network (K-FON). A first-of-its-kind in the country, the project aims to provide free internet connectivity to 20 lakh economically backward families. In its first phase, K-FON will look to provide free internet to 14,000 households and 30,000 government offices in Kerala. General customers can access services, with the basic rate starting at `299 per month for a 20 Mbps connection. Inaugurating the project, CM Pinarayi Vijayan said all houses and government offices in the state will be provided with broadband connectivity and internet services as soon as possible. ENS

Summer: Reopening of schools deferred in TN

CHENNAI: As intense heat continues to keep Tamil Nadu On the boil, the state government has postponed reopening of schools for Classes 6 to 12 to June 12 and Classes 1 to 5 to June 14. The classes were scheduled to reopen on June 7. Reopening of schools in Puducherry too has been pushed to June 14. The decision was taken after school education minister Anbil Mahesh Poyyamozhi met CM MK Stalin at the secretariat to discuss the issue on Monday. The met office said the current heat spell will continue for a few more days and the maximum temperature is likely to be between 40 and 42 degrees Celsius. ENS

Jumbo operation: 'Arikomban' captured after 9-day battle

JEYALAKSHMI RAMANUJAM @Theni

AFTER a battle of nine days, rogue tusker 'Arikomban' was tranquilised by a team of officials and translocated to an area deep inside the forest in Kalakkad Mundanthurai Tiger Reserve (KMTR) late on Monday. A team of forest personnel and four veterinarians tranquilised the tusker early on Monday and loaded it into a lorry with the support of three kumkis at Chinnaovulapuram in Theni district. According to sources, the lorry carrying the tusker entered KMTR via Manimuthar check post on Monday evening. The animal would be released deep inside the forest later in the day. According to sources, the elephant was tired because of the journey and an injury was spotted on the trunk.

"Arikomban was safely tranquilised in the early hours in Cumbum East Range. The elephant is being translocated to a suitable habitat where the Tamil Nadu forest department will continue to monitor him," Supriya Saha, additional chief secretary, environment, climate change and forests, had tweeted with a few photographs of the operation.

The elephant, notorious for its love for rice and ration shop raids in Kerala, was translocated to Periyar Tiger Reserve on Kerala-Tamil Nadu border on April 29 after the Kerala High Court ordered its capture and relocation of the 35-year-old tusker. On May 5, the pachyderm started roaming in the forest areas of Kumuli and lower camp located in Meghamalai hills. On May 27, it entered Cumbum town and started walking on the streets. It also pushed S Palraj (65) from his motorbike, who later died.

INDIAN EXPRESS IS NOT AN INDUSTRY. IT IS A MISSION.

— Ramnath Goenka

QUALITY OF INFRA PROJECTS MATTERS, NOT QUANTITY

The collapse of an under-construction bridge like a sand castle in Bihar is not the prettiest sight, especially coming a couple of days after the fatal train accident in Odisha. That the Sultanganj bridge was under construction for eight years and collapsed twice makes for an even more sordid tale. It is not an isolated case. Caving in of newly-built highways and bridges, flooding of newly-built underpasses, and breaking down of newly-introduced trains are now common sights. This is not the best advertisement for the economic powerhouse we have declared ourselves to be. India prides itself on the pace at which it is building its infrastructure. The newly created infrastructure and buildings give a sense of superiority over some countries in the West, which struggle with their old, dilapidated infrastructure. But the sense of pride and superiority would be short-lived if we do not address the quality issue. It's easy to find videos on social media of people digging up newly-laid roads to show the poor quality of work done. The potholed roads of Mumbai and Bengaluru no longer generate outrage for apparent reasons.

The government has focused on showcasing quantity – how many km of highways were built, how many bridges were erected, trains launched, and how many medical colleges were constructed. But politicians are not ready to take the blame for the poor quality of infrastructure. Medical colleges and schools come up without good faculties, newly-built roads do not last one monsoon, and fancy new trains are being run at the cost of the existing trains — services are getting worse every day.

Poor quality infrastructure puts the country in a bad light and risks people's lives. It is not that the government is not spending enough money on these projects; it is just that money is not buying them good quality. The government's latest data shows that as of April 30, 2023, over 1,600 major infra projects (each costing ₹150 crore or more) in the country have a cost-overrun of 20% and time-overrun of 50%. Quality is not necessarily assured despite spending extra money on those delayed projects. It is probably time to have stricter parameters to ensure the longevity of infra projects in the country. Transparent oversight mechanisms, project audits and legal deterrents are a must in order to avoid any compromise on quality.

NEED TO INCREASE DOPE TEST TO PRE-COVID LEVEL

If wrestling turned into an international shame, doping is an issue that has been plaguing India on the global stage for quite some time now. India is nowhere on the top of the medals table at the Olympics, nor is it as dominant in the world championships, but when it comes to doping, it is right on top – in the top three, to be precise. The latest World Anti-Doping Agency's Anti-Doping Rule Violation (ADRV) report of World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA) is an indication that India is surely climbing to the top of the doping chart.

The latest 2020 figures from WADA show that India, with 59 doping violations, is behind Russia's 135. What seems more disconcerting is the fact that India's National Anti-Doping Agency collected 1,186 samples, out of which 55 returned positive. In 2019, the cases were alarmingly high. With 4,004 samples, it was one of the highest collections by NADA, and there were 225 Adverse Analytical Findings (AAFs; these are the cases before all procedures are over). But when the WADA released its final ADRV report in 2019, the case list was pruned to 152 positives. India was third behind Russia (167) and Italy (157).

Among the 225 AAFs, 135 were listed as ADRVs by WADA, 89 as pending and one was exonerated. After that year, the Covid pandemic struck, and the figures reduced drastically because of the lockdown and other restrictions associated with the pandemic. The testing figures in 2021 have increased to 1794 with 42 AAFs. India was on top in terms of percentage among countries that have tested more than 100 samples. In 2018, India, with 107 ADRVs, was fourth behind Russia (144), Italy (132) and France (114).

Since the last couple of years, positive cases of top athletes in India have emerged during tests conducted by NADA. Even the Registered Testing Pool of NADA has the names of almost all big stars from all disciplines. Emphasis should be given to more out-of-competition sample collections. The testing figures of countries like the US, Russia and China are very high, if one goes by the 2020 data. The US tested more than 7,000, Germany, as usual, tested more than 10,000, and Russia collected 6,881. India, too, must ensure that the number of sampling increases to the pre-pandemic level. Managing ADRVs through a low collection of samples will only harm Indian sports, as dope cheats will always get an unfair advantage. After all, medals count, not failed dope tests.

QUICK TAKE

REDUCE ENTRANCE TEST STRESS

India holds among the toughest entrance tests, like the Civil Services Examinations, and JEE and NEET for engineering and medical seats. Millions annually face unbearable stress – some succumb to it and take their lives — to ace these exams. Psychologists say the experience leaves bad mental scars. Educational Testing Service, which conducts the GRE for graduate admissions in the US and Canada, is setting a precedent by diluting its challenging exam. The duration will be reduced to under two hours from this September to reduce examinees' anxiety and fatigue. This must encourage India to review its test formats and prevent students from losing their mental balance at hypercompetitive coaching factories.

Government's Work Is God's Work". Well, that's what's etched deeply on the Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru. And this ethos seems to be even more deeply etched in the strategy of winning that the Congress put together in the recently concluded Karnataka Assembly elections.

The Congress seems to take this line rather seriously. So seriously, it announced a set of five guarantees that promised to take care of the suffering of the masses. Five promises that offered free bus service for women across Karnataka, 10 kg. rice per person per month for every member of the BPL and Antyodaya card-holding families, 200 units of free electricity, Rs 2000 per month for women of all BPL and Antyodaya families and unemployment benefits of Rs 3000 for graduates and Rs 1500 for diploma holders passing out in the academic year 2022-23. If elected, the party promised to care for women and the unemployed with one stroke of a pen. And the party won on this plank—a clear majority to rule Karnataka.

Once the election brouhaha settled, it was time for the government to fulfil its promises. It was no longer the opposition but the ruling party with a mandate. The last two weeks were a game of wait and watch. With the guidance of its strategy team, the Congress was very keen to ensure a proper rollout that brings in no criticism. Remember, a faulty rollout would have negative ramifications for the party, its image, and its standing in the general elections slated for 2024.

And so, on June 2, 2023, the Karnataka government declared the modalities of the rollout. All five guarantees were announced with full-page print advertisements to help percolate the fine print. While the free bus travel commences on June 11, staggered dates for the rest have been laid out. The promises announced have been kept. The front end has been announced with pomp. The back end is yet to be managed. But even that shall fall into place, I guess. Siddaramaiah, the freshly minted CM of Karnataka, is an astute budget-maker of repute. He has helmed the state in tough times, and even this shall pass, I guess.

Looking at the economics at play, the five guarantees are estimated to cost anything between 45,000-62,000 crore rupees per annum, depending on who is doing the math. Assuming an outflow of Rs 45,000 crore per annum would mean an enormous burden on the state's finances. There is criticism at one end and joy at another, depending on whether you are the funder of these five guarantees or the beneficiary. In sheer numbers, the beneficiaries will be larger; therefore, all is well.

If I am to look at these five guarantees, each of them has positive intent at its root. Free bus travel (Uchita Prayana) for girl students and women means empowerment and mobility at will. The 10 Kg rice per person scheme (Anna Bhagya) means added ability to provide food on the table in a poor home. Free electricity (Gruha Jyothi) and the two doles (Gruha Lakshmi and Yuva Nidhi) mean taking care of the needs of those not privileged enough to partake of the goodies of working life. This means empowerment at every level of those not privileged enough to be taxpayers. Ballpark estimates indicate that there will be an additional income of up to Rs 45,000 per family within the ambit of the beneficiaries of these five guarantees. And that amount represents a whopping 25% of the per capita income of each of these families before the rollout of these guarantees. Who can argue against all this good intent? If the masses are happy, the classes will eventually be happy. Those who argue against this ethos will be considered elitist, highly educated, supra urban, distanced from reality and those who live more in the virtual world than the real, or the opposition.

The key point to note is whether the masses are unhappy. Post-Covid realities seem to bite the poor more than the rich. Inflation and high prices, joblessness and social angst seem to be real punching-bag issues. An election is possibly a great device in a democracy that throws up these real issues. The Karnataka elections threw these up certainly, and the party with the imagination to handle it with its creative solutions seems to have won.

From the point of view of PURE numbers, the Karnataka government needs to show a nifty ability to raise this requirement of Rs. 45,000 crores additionally per annum if it is to maintain its good record within the scheme of things of the Indian states and their financial strength. As per a CAG report, India is said to have spent as much as Rs. 200,000 crores on state subsidies and freebies in FY22 (representing Rs 1,411 per capita). Karnataka's yen to spend Rs 45,000 crore additionally in this category will represent a blip on this already existing nationally aggregated number. The key point to make here, however, is that the fiscal deficit of Karnataka annual budget will be a metric to watch keenly. This is the ultimate arbiter of good or bad health. Everyone will, therefore, wait keenly for the first budget of the Siddaramaiah government. One that just might surprise us all. In more ways than one.

Are the five guarantees rolled out freebies or palliatives? A freebie is really giving something that no one really needs desperately. Maybe a fan, a sewing machine or the like. A palliative is an offering that cures the symptoms that exist out of trauma. I believe the Siddaramaiah government is rolling out a set of palliative care items for now. Time will tell.

As I close this piece, I must say that there is a new model of governance we are looking at. This is the Karnataka model of governance circa 2023: A model that looks to apply that immediate economic balm on the part of society that is finding it difficult to survive. The Karnataka governance model, which has learnt from other states in India, Tamil Nadu included, brings in a new belief in Robinhood economics. The rich must take care of the poor. Till the poor become rich. If free electricity will help a student study that much more, if free bus travel to a girl student makes her get to college that much more diligently, if free rice can fill stomachs otherwise hungry, Robinhood Economics sure does work. In the case of extreme distress, only extreme socialism works.

As an endnote, expect Robinhood economics to be a part of every election campaign in every state ready to go to the polls over the next year. Let's see how this pans out. If nothing else, it is an interesting academic and economic watch.

ODISHA TRAIN TRAGEDY AND OUR NEED FOR SPEED

C P SURENDRAN

Poet, novelist, and screenplay writer. His latest novel is One Love and the Many Lives of Osip B

In the face of the Odisha train accident, which killed 288 people, everything else seems trite, including Rahul Gandhi's visit to the US. But there is a tenuous connection between what he said in the US last week in his interactions with people and the press there and what happened on Saturday in Odisha.

The new Indian obsession, the need for speed, represented in the wish for bullet rains and Vande Bharat specials, identifies itself with the aspiration of an assertive, emerging middle class. All of us are in a hurry to go. And then, we find, some of us are gone forever. If the trains involved in the Balasore accident were moving at a slower pace, many might have survived the day. But this wish rings hollow as almost all of us are programmed to race against time.

The accident, reports indicate, is likely caused by human error. You wouldn't want to be that man. His conscience would kill him. But one would have thought that the main Indian tracks run on an electronic signalling system. It appears not to be the case. Without tracks and signalling keeping up with the high-speed trains, there was bound to be trouble sooner or later. It is astonishing how it seems so inevitable in retrospect when an accident finally happens. This is not wisdom in hindsight. It is just a simple statement of the disparity between dreams and reality.

In the Balasore tragedy, the switch pointed to a side track, a loop, but the main line was green-lit. The driver took the turn at full speed at over 100 km per hour, and the freak smash-up began—an avalanche of accidents.

The investigations will fix responsibility on some small guilty man. Fixing the blame should not obfuscate the Modi signature on our developmental philosophy: a furious modernisation drive without taking into account, as in the instance of the railways, the maintenance, and modernisation of the basics, leading to tragic results. Our infrastructure is creaking, and our superstructure is gleaming. We are living, uniquely, between a nightmare and a dream. And sometimes, the dream is the nightmare.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi is not an exponent of small satisfactions. He is a victim of gargantuanism. His vision of India as a superpower plays a crucial role in gigantic developmental schemes. It comes out of his patriotic spirit, no doubt; maybe a Hindutwa need to make up for perceived historic humiliations. And a certain simplistic faith in the virtues of free enterprise.

And millions are caught up in that tidal wave of hope. Perhaps Modi represents, like no other man or woman in history, the modern Indian's impatience with the idea of the process, fixated as he is on results. This is a typical corporate trait; and might show how deeply we have, as a society, internalised the corporate—as opposed to the community's interests—goals into our daily transactions. And the corporate philosophy can be summed up in four words: more in less time.

The new Indian obsession, the need for speed, represented in the wish for bullet rains and Vande Bharat specials, identifies itself with the aspiration of an assertive, emerging middle class

In his 1973 book, Small Is Beautiful, E F Schumacher said that capitalism brought higher living standards at the cost of deteriorating culture—and faster depletion of resources. By culture, he meant humanist culture. His belief that natural resources be conserved led him to conclude that bigness—as in large industries and cities—would lead to a great crisis. Speed was a function of greed; he argued that exploitation would increasingly assume a faster pace. The general idea that man, especially in developing countries, must look for small businesses and bring down his need for speed in social development has not had many takers half a century after the book became a best seller. Except for Rahul Gandhi, perhaps.

I thought of Schumacher as I listened to Rahul Gandhi making a point in his Stanford lecture that three things are revolutionising our world: new forms of energy, transport, and communication technology. In his less convincing one-on-one interactions with his interlocutors at Stanford and elsewhere, where he came across as searching for answers, self-defeating for an Opposition leader, he also said that the alternative to the Modi model, which he says is based on extreme dependence on a handful of big monopoly capitalists, would be to emphasise on small and medium scale enterprises, a Small is Beautiful notion.

The present governance model is a far cry from all that. Modi believes India has lost enough time and that much is to be done at phenomenal speed. The danger is if there is an increasing disconnect between aspiration and reality, tragedies will result. In Balasore, for example, if the signalling system were fully digitised, it is hard to see how the main line would be green-lit while the switch pointed to the loop. The problem is partly a result of manual and digital operations, perhaps.

A media report on Sunday said that 'the Howrah-Chennai main line was not equipped with modern digital technologies.' That was the line that the Bangalore-Howrah Express, one of three trains involved in the accident. The report suggested that not all Vande Bharat routes were digitised either. Indeed, in the latter case, the Vande Bharat can maintain the consistency of speed and timing in many states simply because it gets preferential treatment compared to other trains, which are held over while Vande Bharat rushes past.

No investigation would bring back the dead. That so many died in trying to reach a destination is a thought enough to make you shake in your shoes. Those breathing must go on with the petty businesses of living, but those who lost their lives and those bereaved must wonder what's the point of speed if it kills. What, indeed, can one attribute the tragedy to? Fate? It seems trite to say, but Fate might have been kept at bay with a bit of care.

Wrong switch

Coromandel Express as already programmed was fast approaching Bahanaga Bazar along the main line at 130 kmph. Somebody at the station switched track through a loop line where there was a goods train. To cover up the mistake in five seconds the person switched back to main line. This is a lunatic act. To call it infra failure and human error is meaningless.

Safety first

Apropos of 'Railway expansion and safety upgrade must be in consonance' (June 5). The Bahanaga train tragedy reiterates that 'safety upgrade' comes first. Amid much hype, fanfare of introducing many Vande Bharat trains in recent times, safety upgrade aspects like 'deploying ACD like Kavach across all zones' was put on the back burner. It's time Indian Railways focuses on bringing down accident rates, by allocating more in the budget for safety upgrade.

Divine souls

As usual the column 'Faithline' by Renuka Narayanan shows the parable of Ramakrishna this time in a new light. The story shows the strength of faith, fearlessness and confidence. As Vivekananda, the earnest disciple of Paramhans, used to say, all souls are potentially divine and it is only one's own efforts that lead to realise this divinity within.

TDP alliance

Ref Speculation over BJP-TDP poll alliance upsets saffron brigade (June 5). BJP's possible gains, if any, out of any renewed alliance with Chandrababu Naidu's TDP would only be temporary because Naidu is an unreliable ally. The BJP has to spread its grassroots and fortify itself by continual mass outreaches and drawing in credible leaders from the socio-political spectrum of Andhra.

The life-like statue of former Kerala Marxist party chief, late Kodiyeri Balakrishnan, with his characteristic smile was indeed impressive. Hats off to the sculptor who made it. The statue will definitely take pride of place in the wax museum in Thiruvananthapuram.

'Judgment on Maha disqualification will be a landmark verdict'

Decisions will be taken in accordance with constitutional provisions and will be delivered as responsibly as possible, says Assembly Speaker Rahul Narvekar

MAHARASHTRA Legislative Assembly Speaker Rahul Narvekar exclusively spoke to Sudhir Suryawanshi on the Supreme Court judgment in connection with disqualification of 16 MLAs of Shiv Sena that includes Chief Minister Eknath Shinde. Narvekar said that there would not be any intentional delay from his side while hearing all the disqualification petitions and it will be a landmark verdict.

Verbatim

After the Supreme Court verdict over disqualification of 16 Shiv Sena MLAs of Eknath Shinde faction, another faction led by Uddhav Thackeray has met you and given the letter to act on the judgment and take the decisions soon. When will the hearing process start?
After the Supreme Court judgment, there are certain guidelines that are laid down and the speaker is called upon first to assess which group represented the political party back in June 2022. After that, he will have to take the desire of the political party and recognise the whip and its party leader as well. So, the starting point for my mind will be which is the right political party. Thereafter, recognise the whip, then getting into the merit of each case filed by both the factions of the Shiv Sena. I have to also check and see whether they comply or meet the requirements of the schedule 10, para II of the Constitution.

The whip is a major contentious issue. So, whose party whip will be applicable? The court said the elected representatives cannot be the party, and the political party will be the only party that has the right to appoint the leader and the whip. So, whose whip will be applicable?
The Supreme Court said political party can nominate the group leader or party leader and the whip. And this perhaps is the interpretation of schedule 10 of the Constitution. So, based on that we will take a decision on whose political party is party and who has the right to appoint the whip.

The Supreme Court is clear whose whip is valid and whose is invalid. How you will interpret it?
I do not think the Supreme Court has specifically stated in the judgement. The Supreme Court has left it to the speaker to adjudicate who really represents the political party. And based on that what was the desire of the political party. All aspects we have to check and take the decisions.

The Supreme Court has upheld the constitutional discipline where the legislature has recognised to do its own work, while judiciary will do its own work and the executive will do its own work. So, there is interference in each other work and jurisdictions. So, deciding disqualification is authority of the Speaker.

The court has rightly held that Speaker has to decide on disqualification matter. So, they refused to intervene in this matter.

Everyone is free to interpret the SC judgment and analyse it. But at the end of the day, the Constitution is supreme. Neither the Supreme Court, nor the Speaker is above Constitution. The SC has simplified and interpreted the constitutional provisions and left it to the Speaker to take the decision

Rahul Narvekar

Everyone, including Opposition and Eknath Shinde-led Shiv Sena, is claiming that the judgment is one of the best and it's in their favour only. How do you see it?
Everyone is free to interpret the Supreme Court judgement and analyse it and what they feel it is the right judgement for them. But at the end of the day, the Constitution is supreme.

Neither the Supreme Court nor the speaker is above Constitution, nor is the executive. We have to abide by what the Constitution has said and its constitutional provisions. There is no question that anyone is being right or wrong.

An important line the judgment is speaker has to deal with the disqualification petitions in reasonable time. So, what exactly is the reasonable time? Can you specify?
The reasonable time is a very subjective term and criteria depends on case to case, facts of each case, and complexity of each case. However, it is my endeavour to decide and adjudicate the matter at the earliest possible possible occasion. I would like to emphasise that there will not be any delay from my side while dealing in this matter. But we have to keep in mind that we have to carry out all procedure laid down by business rules of the House and the Constitution. We have to follow all the rules. We have to follow the principle of natural justice. And then take the decisions.

While hearing the matter, the 16 MLAs' disqualification petitions will be dealt with or remaining MLAs petitions will be heard?
There are total 34 petitions filed before the Speaker's office and legislate secretariat. We have to hear all these filed petitions and take the decisions.

These petitions has filed by both the Shiv Sena factions — Eknath Shinde-led Shiv Sena and Uddhav Thackeray-led Shiv Sena. We have to also need to see the sequence of the petitions.

You are the Speaker of Maharashtra assembly but at the same time, you are also member and MLA of the ruling party BJP. So, will it have impact on your decisions and dealing with the disqualification petitions of the MLAs? Is there any pressure from party side or alliance side?
Individuals are the member of the party and they are elected on the party ticket and symbol. But when the MLA of any party is elected as speaker of the House , he or she is not more part the party in House. He or she represent the entire House, not any particular party. So, it will be unfair to attribute malice to the speaker office only because he is member of any political party.

Every speaker of the State assembly is the member of some or other political party. But when he assumed the office , then he removes the gown of his party and political party and plays the impartial role while running the procedure of the House.

There is no pressure but this is very interesting case and the judgement of this case will be landmark judgement. The decisions in this case will be taken accordance with the law and constitutional provisions. So, I will try to deliver as responsibly as possible.

IIT-M tops national ranking for 5th time

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

INDIAN Institute of Technology (IIT)- Madras has secured the top spot in the National Institute Ranking Framework, 2023 for the fifth consecutive year in the category of 'overall' rankings, while the Indian Institute of Science (IISc)-Bengaluru is ranked as the best university.

IISc-Bengaluru was also ranked second spot in the overall category, followed by IIT Delhi, according to the National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF) Ranking 2023, which was released by the Minister of State for Education and External Affairs Rajkumar Ranjan Singh on Monday.

In the 'University' category, IISc-Bengaluru is followed by Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU) and Jamia Millia Islamia (JMI) in second and third place respectively. Jadavpur University and Banaras Hindu University (BHU) have secured fourth and fifth positions respectively.

Just like the previous years, IITs have dominated the top 10 list of the NIRF Rankings 2023 in the engineering category. IIT-Madras retained the top spot for the eighth consecutive year. It is followed by IIT-Delhi and IIT-Bombay. IISc-Bengaluru was also ranked as the best institution for research for three consecutive years. It is followed by IIT-Madras in the second position, and IIT-Delhi in the third position. Indian Institute of Management (IIM)-Ahmedabad has been ranked as the top management institute in India for the fourth consecutive year, followed by IIM-Bangalore and IIM-Kozhikode, which has been consistently improving its rank from eighth position in 2019, sixth position in 2016 and 2020 to fourth position in 2021, fifth position in 2022 and third position in 2023. IIT-Delhi was ranked at fourth position in the Management subject.

All-India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS)- New Delhi continued to retain its first position in the medical rankings for the last six consecutive years. It is followed by PGIMER-Chandigarh and Christian Medical College and Hospital, Vellore. The National Institute of Mental Health and Neuro Sciences (NIMHANS)-Bangalore retained its fourth position.

The IIT-Roorkee retained its first position in architecture for the third consecutive years, while the National Institute of Technology-Calicut retained its second position. IIT-Kharagpur secured third position in this category. Five colleges in Delhi University ranked among the top 10 in India. While Miranda House retained its top position, Hindu College bagged the second spot among the top colleges in India. It is followed by Presidency College, Chennai. It is followed by PSGR Krishnammal College for Women, Coimbatore, and St. Xavier₹s College, Kolkata.

The other DU colleges, which were placed in the top 10, are Atma Ram Sanatan Dharm College, New Delhi, in sixth position. Lady Shri Ram College for Women Delhi, secured ninth position, while Kirori Mal College, Delhi, was in 10th position.

In the category of pharmacy, the National Institute of Pharmaceutical Education and Research- Hyderabad has been ranked first. It is followed by Jamia Hamdard and BITS Pilani. In agriculture and allied sector, which was added this year, Indian Agricultural Research Institute- New Delhi bagged the top spot.

In dental, Saveetha Institute of Medical and Technical Sciences took the top slot for the second consecutive year. It is followed by Manipal College of Dental Sciences, Manipal in the second, and Dr D Y Patil Vidyapeeth in the third position. Maulana Azad Institute of Dental Sciences, Delhi, retained its fourth position.

The parameters on which institutes are ranked are teaching learning and resources, research and professional practice, graduation outcome, outreach and inclusivity and perception.

Rahul takes on PM over Odisha rly crash in diaspora meet in US

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

PRIME MINISTER Narendra Modi is driving a car looking at the rear-view mirror, Rahul Gandhi said in the US while taking jabs at him, BJP, and RSS.

During his address to the Indian diaspora at the Javits Centre in the US, Rahul Gandhi criticised the BJP and RSS, stating that they lack foresight and tend to blame others for their failures. He remarked, "That is the phenomenon of Narendra Modi Ji. He tries to drive the Indian car while only looking in the rear-view mirror. Consequently, he fails to understand why the car is crashing and unable to move forward. This mindset applies to the BJP, the RSS, and all of them."

Gandhi further highlighted that when you listen to them, including their ministers and the Prime Minister, they rarely discuss the future. Instead, they focus on the past and consistently shift blame onto others.

He addressed the Odisha triple rain accident which claimed the lives of 275 people and left over 1,000 injured. Recalling a train accident that occurred during Congress rule, Gandhi emphasised that his party did not deflect blame onto others. He recounted, "I remember a train accident when the Congress party was in power. We didn't rise and attribute the fault to the British for the train crash. No! I remember the Congress Minister taking responsibility, stating, 'It is my responsibility that the train crashed... I am resigning.' This is the problem we face back home—we make excuses instead of accepting the reality of the challenges we confront."

Concluding his six-day visit to the US, which included trips to San Francisco, New York, and Washington DC, the former Congress president wrapped up his engagements.

Gandhi stated India is witnessing a battle between two ideologies, one represented by his party and the other by the BJP and RSS. He simplified fight by drawing a parallel between Mahatma Gandhi, who symbolises non-violence, truth, belief in India's future, and Nathuram Godse, who represents violence, anger, and an inability to confront his own life.

He expressed, "On one side, you have a brave man like Mahatma Gandhi, an NRI like you—the most impactful NRI that India has had in many years. He is humble, simple, and believes in the future, in India, in propagating non-violence and the search for truth. This is the ideology we follow, the ideology all of you in this room also embrace. On the other side, there's Nathuram Godse—violent, angry, unable to face the reality of his own life. The reason he shot Gandhi was his inability to confront his own life, and thus, he vented his anger on the man who represented the essence of India. That's the fight we face."

Fuel emissions reduced to 9.4%, says NHAI sustainability report

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

IN its first ever report on 'Sustainability', the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) claimed that direct emission was reduced from 18.44 per cent to 9.49 percent due to less fuel consumption in three years between 2019-20 and 2021-22.

With over 97 percent penetration, Electronic Toll Collection through FASTag has also contributed in reducing carbon footprint, stated a statement of the ministry of road transport and highways (MoRTH) on Monday.

The Sustainability Report underlines the effectiveness of various efforts made by NHAI for environment and energy conservation.

NHAI continues to work towards reducing indirect emissions as well, by transiting towards clean and green energy sources, said the ministry. Apart from this, NHAI has been using recycled materials for national highway construction. Use of fly-ash and plastic waste in construction has increased over the last three years, the report stated.

"NHAI has been encouraging use of Recycled Asphalt (RAP) and Recycled Aggregates (RA) in the national highway construction. More than 100 wildlife crossings were created in three years across 20 states as a measure for wildlife protection and conservation and to reduce man animal conflict," read the report.

The ministry further informed that over the years, NHAI has been undertaking plantation drives to develop eco-friendly national highways and there has been a significant increase in the number of saplings planted from 2016-17 till 2021-22. Around 2.74 crore saplings were planted till 2021-22 to offset direct emissions from the vehicles, it said.

The report was recently released by the union minister for road transport and highways Nitin Gadkari, Union. NHAI has partnered with different stakeholders such as State Rural Livelihood Mission (SRLM), self help groups, CSR partners and NGOs to collaboratively organise plantation drives.

In July 2022, NHAI organized a nationwide plantation drive and planted around 1.1 lakh plants in a single day through simultaneous plantations at 114 identified locations across the country.

In addition to sustainable development, the report also highlights NHAI's commitment to create inclusive and responsible work practices. Over the last three years, women employment and employment of marginalized communities at NHAI has increased.

Improper disposal of sanitary pads a climate concern

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

STAIN-FREE, stay-in-place, no leakage, comfortable to wear, and light on the pocket are women's top priorities when they buy commercial sanitary napkins. But what they don't consider is their safe disposal, and how over 12 billion of these non-biodegradable pads are filling our landfills, sewerage system, water bodies and fields, therefore posing a colossal environmental and health risks.

As the decomposition of sanitary pads takes over 500 years, what is needed, experts said on the occasion of World Environment Day, that manufacturers of these products should not use toxic material in them as 90 per cent of them have plastic and other materials like super absorbent polymers (SAP), chemicals, and cellulosic materials.

According to Bishwanath Sinha, Director, Policy and Technical Support, WaterAid India, an international charity that works in the area of water, sanitation and hygiene services, while the Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) specifies quality standards for sanitary pads, these standards are not mandatory and not enforced strictly.

"Thus, manufacturers do not have to reveal the composition of their products," he told this paper. Though India has come out with Solid Waste Management (SWM) rules, only a few cities, like Indore, have been successful in the safe disposal and management of disposable sanitary napkins.

Sinha added that the health and environmental impact is more pronounced because of the unorganised and informal ways of municipal solid waste management, including poor segregation, low community collection, lack of sufficient disposal and transportation networks in cities and villages, and limited infrastructure for scientific disposal. Thus, these materials, when disposed of carelessly in the open, can pollute soil and water sources and release harmful toxins when burned in the open, in burning chambers, and in unregulated incinerators. Also, while many government bodies and organisations are enthusiastic about implementing incinerators, concerns arise regarding their proper installation, including sufficient ventilation, added Snehal Pawar, Assistant Manager, Ujaas, an initiative of Aditya Birla Education Trust (ABET). This social enterprise focuses on bridging the gap in menstrual health.

"It has been observed that numerous schools, colleges, and institutes possess such machines; however, they often remain non-functional due to inadequate maintenance," she said. She added that in many cases, girls are not given proper demonstrations on using them, leading them to dispose of sanitary napkins inappropriately, such as throwing them out of windows or flushing them down toilets. However, in India, which has approximately 35.5 crore women who menstruate - 89.6% in urban areas and 72.6% in rural areas - there are taboos and superstitions still attached to the burning of sanitary napkins. What is essential is waste segregation – right at the source - when implementing menstrual waste solutions like – incineration, deep burial, chemical treatment, and recycling, said Agarwal.

India's effort to regulate plastic is commendable: PM

Prime Minister Narendra Modi, on Monday has lauded the country's efforts in tackling plastic pollution on the occasion of World Environment Day. He addressed the people, policymakers and foreign delegates meet via video message and underlined that India has already undertaken significant efforts since 2018 for plastic pollution in two phases- a ban on single-use plastic and compulsory plastic waste processing. He expressed happiness that India has worked continuously in this direction for the past 4-5 years. "India started working on two levels to get rid of single-use plastic in 2018" says Modi. "On the one hand, India has banned single-use plastic while on the other hand, plastic waste processing has been made mandatory" he added.

Assam-Arunachal border heats up again, 2 die in firing

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

TWO persons were killed and two others were injured in Assam's Dhemaji district on Monday when unidentified gunmen fired at them, allegedly from Arunachal Pradesh.

The incident occurred at Panbari near the interstate border when the victims were planting trees and saplings. The deceased were identified as Boga Chutia and Monitu Gogoi. When reports last came in, the situation in Dhemaji was tense. The locals protested the killings and demanded the arrest of the culprits.

"I strongly condemn the act of violence at the Panbari area of the Assam-Arunachal border in Dhemaji, where one person named Boga Chutia of Borbila Chutiakari village of my constituency has been killed, and 3 persons - Monitu Gogoi, Puspa Gogoi and Akoni Gohain of Milonpur village have been injured," Assam education minister Ranoj Pegu tweeted.

He updated the death toll in another tweet where he wrote, "Very sad to share that Monitu Gogoi has succumbed to his injuries."

Director General of police GP Singh said senior police officers were at the site and efforts were on to apprehend the perpetrators of the crime.

Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma said the police would probe the case and take action against the culprits.

"We have not yet been able to demarcate the (interstate) boundary in different areas of Dhemaji district. Some people from the neighbouring state get aggressive over greed for land," Sarma said. His Arunachal counterpart Pema Khandu said the culprits would not be spared. "It is an unfortunate incident. As soon as I heard it, I called up our local MLA and the DC (Deputy Commissioner) and instructed them to visit the site and talk to people," Khandu said.

Violence unabated in Manipur, 3 killed

Home Minister Amit Shah invites state's all 10 Naga MLAs, including 3 from BJP, to Delhi

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

IN strife-torn Manipur, three persons were killed while three others were injured on Monday. Official sources said the incident occurred at Phayeng in Imphal West district when suspected Kuki militants opened fire. One person was killed there on May 28 in a similar attack. In another incident on Sunday, a mob reportedly killed three persons travelling in two vehicles, including an ambulance, at Iroisemba in Imphal West district. The report could not be officially confirmed.

The violence has more or less subsided everywhere, except Imphal West and Kakching districts.

In the past two days, combined teams of Manipur Police commandos and Border Security Force destroyed two camps of Kuki militants near Sugnu and Serou in Kakching district after fierce gunfights and drove away the rebels, official sources said. There have been some incidents in the two places since May 28 when militants came down the hills, torched houses and opened fire on villagers. Some people had lost their lives.

Meanwhile, some Kuki groups lifted the blockade on National Highway-II, which enters Manipur from Nagaland, for seven days in response to Union Home Minister Amit Shah's call but with a rider that vehicles carrying essential commodities and medicines should be escorted by Central forces.

Around 10,000 Army and Assam Rifles personnel have been deployed in the state to restore peace| PTI

According to local media reports on Monday, a mob attacked the houses of two tribal leaders in protest against the withdrawal of the blockade. Shah has invited the state's all 10 Naga MLAs, including three from BJP, to Delhi for a meeting. It is likely to take place on Tuesday. The Nagas have remained neutral in the conflict between Meiteis and Kukis.

At least 98 people have died and over 300 are injured in the ethnic violence in Manipur that broke out a month ago. A total of 37,450 people are currently sheltered in 272 relief camps.

Clashes first broke out on May 3 after a 'Tribal Solidarity March' was organised in the hill districts to protest against the Meitei community's demand for Scheduled Tribe (ST) status. Meiteis account for about 53% of Manipur's population and live mostly in the Imphal Valley. Tribal Nagas and Kukis constitute another 40% of the population and reside in the hill districts.

Around 10,000 Army and Assam Rifles personnel have been deployed in the state to bring back peace.

Plea filed in SC challenging Internet ban

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

A plea has been filed in Supreme Court challenging the indefinite internet ban that has been imposed in Manipur since May 3 due to the outbreak of violence as a result of clashes.

Filed by Advocate Chongtham Victor Singh and businessman Mayengbam James, the plea states that the internet shut down order was firstly issued on May 3 and was repeated indefinitely. "The repeated internet ban by Manipur govt has not only resulted in state's residents experiencing feelings of fear, anxiety, helplessness but have also not been able to communicate with their loved ones," the plea said.

Seeking restoration of internet services, the plea states that the notifications on internet ban does not serve a legitimate goal and does not have a direct nexus with the purpose of law and order given the ground situation at present. "The suspension orders do not explicitly mention reasons that fall within Article 19(2), they violate Rule 2(2) of the Telecom Suspension Rules," it said.

Board, corporation posts assigned ahead of polls

After three and a half years in office, Chief Minister Hemant Soren has started distributing various posts of boards and corporations, reportedly to appease the second liners in the party ahead of 2024 Assembly elections in Jharkhand. Recently, chairman and members of Hindu Religious Trust Board and Jharkhand State Housing Board were appointed. Interestingly, Congress has been given the post of chairman of both the boards, while leaders of both Congress and JMM have been included in the list of members. According to experts, JMM has taken this initiative to appease the disgruntled congress leaders.

Bulletproof vehicles for coal company officials

Terrified with the recent incidents of extortion and murder, the coal companies have started purchasing bullet proof vehicles for their officers posted in Hazaribagh and also recruiting retired army personnel as their security staff. This is for the first time that the coal companies have ordered bullet proof vehicles out of the fear caused by extremists and criminals. Several coal mining companies are operating in Hazaribagh. Recently, project manager of mining company Ritwik, Sharad Kumar, was shot dead. The company has ordered 3 bullet proof vehicles worth `20 lakh each.

New technique to remove heavy metals

IIT Indian School of Mines (ISM) Dhanbad has developed a technique for the removal of fine particles and heavy metals from the effluents of coal washeries using Mustard and Moringa seeds as a bio coagulant. The research team has suggested the use of bio coagulants, including Mustard and Moringa Oleifera for the removal of high loads of suspended solids like coal fines, shale, slate, clay minerals and other impurities present in effluents of washeries. The use of bio coagulant for the removal of unwanted wastes will help avoid the challenges posed due to the use of chemicals for waste removal.

Billboard crashes on car, kills two

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

TWO persons including a woman and her daughter died and their driver sustained injuries after a billboard at the Atal Bihari Vajpayee (Ekana) International Stadium came down crashing on their SUV, in which they were travelling, and crushed it to the ground during a strong storm here on Monday.

Both the woman and her daughter were declared dead upon arrival by the doctors at Ram Manohar Lohia Institute of Medical Sciences. The accident took place in posh locality under Sushant Golf City police station area in the evening, said the police sources.

According to Gosaiganj Assistant Commissioner of Police (ASP) Amit Kumawat, the victims were identified as Preeti Jaggi (38) and her daughter Angel (15). They were the residents of Indira Nagar colony in Ghazipur police station area.

The victims were headed to a mall in the area with their driver Sartaj, 28, when the accident happened, SHO (Sushant Golf City) Atul Kumar Srivastava said.

Kolkata airport officials stop Abhishek's wife from boarding flight to UAE

PRANAB MONDAL@ Kolkata

IMMIGRATION officials at Kolkata airport on Monday morning stopped Rujira Banerjee, wife of Trinamool Congress's national general secretary and chief minister's nephew Abhishek Banerjee, from flying abroad, on the basis of a look-out circular issued by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) probing into alleged coal pilferage scam.

Rujira, who was on her way to Dubai, waited at the airport for over two hours and returned home with her children after being denied permission.

Describing the immigration's act inhuman, chief minister Mamata Banerjee said Rujira was leaving Kolkata after informing the ED. "Rujira's mother is sick. The Supreme Court earlier said in its order that she can fly after informing the ED. Accordingly, she had informed the ED. The central agency should have told her about their objection when she informed them. But the ED handed her a notice."

The central agency asked Rujira to turn up at its Kolkata office at 11 am on June 8 to answer questions.

Sources in Kolkata airport said Rujira reached the airport around 7 am to catch the flight and collected her boarding pass. "But she was stopped by immigration officers when she reached the counter. The immigration officers showed her the look-out notice issued by the ED," said an official of the airport.

In a statement, Rujira's lawyer said, "On September 5, 2022, the Supreme Court was pleased to take note of the submission of the Solicitor General of India that no coercive steps shall be taken against Abhishek and Rujira and that there are no travel restrictions on them. Subsequently Rujira Banerjee had travelled to the USA without any objection from the ED from 5.10.2022 till 18.10.22."

Mukhtar Ansari gets life term in murder case

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE MP/MLA court of Varanasi, on Monday, convicted jailed gangster-turned-politician Mukhtar Ansari, holding him guilty of murdering Awadhesh Rai, the elder brother of Congress leader Ajai Rai, in August, 1991.

Special Judge Avnish Gautum convicted the gangster currently incarcerated in Banda jail, sentenced him for life imprisonment and imposed a penalty of ₹1 lakh on him. The court had wrapped the final arguments of the prosecution and defence lawyers in the 31-year-old case on May 19, this year, reserving the order.

Awdhesh Rai, a Congress supporter, was shot dead outside his house in Varanasi on August 3, 1991. As per the lawyers of Ajai Rai, who is the complainant in the case, both Awdhesh and Ajai were standing at the gate of their house in Varanasi in the afternoon of August 3, 1991, when some assailants, including Ansari himself, opened fire at Awdhesh. In retaliation, Ajay fired from his licensed pistol but the accused fled leaving the car behind.

Shinde, Fadnavis in Delhi for talks on Maha cabinet expansion, LS poll seats

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA Chief Minister Eknath Shinde along with his deputy Devendra Fadnavis met Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Sunday in Delhi, where it was decided that BJP and Shinde's Shiv Sena will jointly contest the Lok Sabha, assembly and local body elections in the state, sources said.

Shinde also reportedly discussed the Maharashtra cabinet expansion besides inducting two Shiv Sena Lok Sabha MPs as a cabinet and minister for state in the Central government. After the meeting, Shinde said the other topic of discussion was agriculture and cooperative department-related matters.

"Our alliance is very strong for the development of Maharashtra. In the last 11 months, we have taken up big developmental projects," said Shinde. In the meeting, it was also decided that Shiv Sena and BJP will jointly contest the upcoming Lok Sabha, assembly and local body elections. "We are confident that we both will win all these elections with a majority," Shinde said.

The Shinde-led Shiv Sena has been feeling left out in terms of its representation in the Central government. Besides, for more than 10 months since the alliance government took, there has been no state cabinet expansion. Shinde group's Lok Sabha MPs are also waiting for their share in the pie at the Centre.

Shinde has also asked for an "adequate" number of seats for his party in the Lok Sabha and state assembly elections.

Shinde wants an assurance from the top BJP leadership that he runs the government with a free hand and the alliance can contest the future elections under his leadership, sources said.

Shah is said to have been concerned about the image of the Shinde government. The Shinde government was reminded about the significance of Maharashtra in the LS polls it sends 48 MPs to the House, a number which is the second highest after Uttar Pradesh. The BJP also wants Shinde to cover the ground and snatch the Sena base from Uddhav Thackeray-led faction, said a source.

'Chhollywood' movie does better than 'Kerala Story', draws ₹9 cr in 3 weeks

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

REGIONAL movie of Chhollywood (film industry as referred to in Chhattisgarh state) 'Le Suru Hoge Mya Ke Kahani' surpassed 'The Kerala Story' in the box office collections in the state, indicating the preferred choice of the people.

"The Chhattisgarhi film remains way ahead of The Kerala Story and even other recent blockbuster Bollywood movies, when it comes to the total collections so far from across the state during the last three weeks. In Raipur the Chhollywood movie has collected over ₹2 crore and crossed Rs 9 crore in the entire state. The Kerala Story has touched ₹5 crore as collections in the state", said Labhansh Tiwari, a film analyst and distributorship owner.

The movie 'Le Suru Hoge Mya Ke Kahani' continues to be screened in all multiplexes and single screen theatres across the state.

"It's all about the theme with an appealing family storyline that actually works and remains better liked among the cinemagoers. People now choose more realistic films", said Satish Jain, the producer of the Chhattisgarhi film 'Le Suru Hoge Mya Ke Kahani'.

Taran Adarsh, noted Bollywood film critic expressed his delight appreciating that the Chhattisgarhi film setting new records even with limited release and despite stiff competition from 'The Kerala Story'.

"Yet, #Chhattisgarhi film #LeSuruHogeMyaKeKahani is creating new records in Chhattisgarh...running to packed houses. This film along with #TheKeralaStory has brought big relief.....", Adarsh stated on his twitter handle.

Jain however further added that the screening of 'The Kerala Story' did draw audiences in Chhattisgarh but couldn't fetch the imposing tenor as the film witnessed in other states.

With the impressive storyline of the Chhattisgarhi film having received the wide appreciation from its target audience invariably suggest an understanding and decision of the audiences, said Uchit Sharma interpreting the experiences of moviegoers in the state.

Interestingly, renowned bollywood director Suraj Barjatya has called Jain to meet him at Mumbai.

The first Chhattisgarhi-dialect film 'Kahi Debe Sandesh' based on intercaste love story was released in 1965.

Pay power bill or sit under tree: Assam Speaker

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

ASSAM Assembly speaker Biswajit Daimary recently gave a simple advice for those who cannot afford to use fans – sit under a tree. "The electricity tariff has increased. Don't switch on the fans if you cannot afford it. Sit under a tree. The electricity bills won't be much then," Daimary advised people, reacting to the criticism of state's BJP-led government for frequently increasing power tariffs.

"The government buys electricity from companies and if they inflate the price, what can it do? It will have to make do by increasing tariff," the BJP leader said.

He asked people not to make this an issue and stressed on judicious utilisation of power.

"Things that you have are under your control but things that you do not have are not under your control," he added.

Opposition Congress was quick to shoot back. It accused the government of trying to push Assam to the stone age.

Condemning Daimary's remarks, state Congress president Bhupen Kumar Borah

said, "Our forefathers sat under a tree and then with time, people had light and fan facilities under the Congress rule. Will they now have to go back to the stone age?"

Borah added that when people were struggling due to rising power tariffs, Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma kept moving around places in a helicopter. Assam Congress working president Kamalakhya Dey Purkayastha linked the speaker's remarks to the state's alleged precarious financial health. He blamed the chief minister's alleged faulty policies for the mess.

If you resist, power comany will suffer losses: CM

Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma said. "Let us put the system in place everywhere. If you resist it, the Assam power company will suffer losses and tariff will increase. People have nothing to talk against the state government, so they are making this an issue," the CM said. "When you say something, say it based on facts. Only smart meters can help decrease electricity bills in Assam," he added.

"As the government has failed to give relief to people from constant rise in prices, the speaker advised them to sit under a tree. Next, the government will advise them to eat one meal and skip another so that they can fight inflation," Purkayastha said.

Recently, Assam Power Distribution Company Ltd had levied additional charges of ₹30 paise to ₹70 paise per unit for its consumers to clear outstanding dues to power-generating agencies. The decision, however, ruffled the feathers of All Assam Electricity Consumers' Association, opposition parties and various organisations.

The chief minister said people were making a hue and cry without any reason.

"It is a common phenomenon that power tariffs go up from time to time. It happened in the past. I don't know why there are so much of reactions to the latest increase in tariff," Sarma said. He said the tariff had gone down by 25 paise last month and increased by 30 paise this month.

"We started installing smart meters four years ago. People, in whose houses there are smart meters, know the bills are normally not high. But families, which do not still have smart meters, are protesting more. Nobody raised a voice in Guwahati. We started installing smart meters here four years ago,"

Sarma said. "Let us put the system in place everywhere. If you resist it, the Assam power company will suffer losses and tariff will increase. People have nothing to talk against the state, so they are making this an issue. "When you say something, say it based on facts. Only smart meters can help decrease electricity bills here."

Ukraine claims advances; Russia says attack repelled

Kyiv's dy defence minister says troops are making progress in Bakhmut

KYIV

UKRAINE said on Monday that its troops were advancing around Bakhmut while playing down the importance of its "offensive actions," after Russia said it had repelled a large-scale attack.

"The Bakhmut sector remains the epicentre of the hostilities. We are advancing there on a rather wide front," Ukrainian Deputy Defence Minister Ganna Malyar said. "We are having some success." "The defensive operation includes counteroffensive actions. Therefore, in some sectors, we are conducting offensive actions," Malyar added.

Early on Monday, Russia's defence ministry said "the enemy launched a large-scale offensive in five sectors of the front" on Sunday in the south of the Donetsk region. "A total of six mechanised and two tank battalions of the enemy were involved," it said. "The enemy did not achieve their tasks. They had no success."

The ministry posted what it said was a video of the battle, showing Ukrainian armoured vehicles coming under heavy fire. Putin's top commander in Ukraine, Chief of the General Staff Valery Gerasimov, "was at one of the advanced command posts," ministry said.

Russian Defence Ministry spokesman Igor Konashenkov claimed that 250 Ukrainian personnel were killed in the fighting in Donetsk province, and 16 Ukrainian tanks, three infantry fighting vehicles and 21 armored combat vehicles were destroyed. "The enemy's goal was to break through our defences in the most vulnerable, in its opinion, sector of the front," Konashenkov said. "The enemy did not achieve its tasks. It had no success."

The Russian military on Monday said that it repelled the latest Ukrainian incursion into the Belgorod region, on the border in Ukraine. Russians who purport to be fighting alongside Ukrainian forces said they attacked on Sunday. They were driven back by airstrikes and artillery fire, according to the Russian Defence Ministry.

Meanwhile, Wagner boss Yevgeny Prigozhin said on Monday that Ukraine's troops had made gains near Bakhmut. Russian troops, he said, were "slowly" leaving the village of Berkhivka near Bakhmut.

"Disgrace!", he said, challenging Russian Defence Minister Sergei Shoigu to come to the front. "Come on! You can! And if you can't, die a hero," Prigozhin said. Agencies

Invasion message on hacked Russian radio stations

Several Russian radio stations were hacked and played a fake President Vladimir Putin speech announcing an invasion from Kyiv's troops in three regions bordering Ukraine, the Kremlin said on Monday. The fake message said that "Ukrainian troops...have invaded the Kursk, Belgorod and Bryansk" territories. It also announced martial law. "This was indeed a hack," Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said. "Control has been restored."

Mother jailed for killing her kids pardoned after 20 years

CANBERRA

AN Australian woman who spent 20 years in prison was pardoned and released on Monday based on new scientific evidence that her four kids died by natural causes.

The pardon was seen as the quickest way of getting Kathleen Folbigg out of prison, and a final report from the second inquiry into her guilt could recommend the state Court of Appeals quash her convictions.

Folbigg, now 55, was released from a prison in Grafton, New South Wales state, following an unconditional pardon by Gov. Margaret Beazley.

New South Wales Attorney-General Michael Daley said former justice Tom Bathurst had advised him last week there was reasonable doubt about Folbigg's guilt based on new scientific evidence that the deaths could have been from natural causes. "There is a reasonable doubt as to Ms. Folbigg's guilt of the manslaughter of her child Caleb, the infliction of grievous bodily harm on her child Patrick and the murder of her children Patrick, Sarah and Laura," Daley said. Folbigg was serving a 30-year prison sentence that was to expire in 2033. She would have become eligible for parole in 2028.

The children died separately over a decade, at between 19 days and 19 months old. Her first child, Caleb, was born in 1989 and died 19 days later in what a jury determined to be the lesser crime of manslaughter. Her second child, Patrick, was 8 months old when he died in 1991. Two years later, Sarah died at 10 months. In 1999, Folbigg's fourth child, Laura, died at 19 months. AP

Mates become rivals: Pence jumps into 2024 prez race

WASHINGTON

REPUBLICAN former vice president Mike Pence launched on Monday his hotly-anticipated challenge to one-time boss Donald Trump for the party's 2024 White House nomination, setting up the unusual scenario of two running mates becoming rivals. Pence, a 63-year-old evangelical Christian, filed his nomination papers with the Federal Election Commission ahead of an official declaration to be made by video on Wednesday in the early voting state of Iowa —joining an already crowded primary field.

He spent his 2017-21 tenure as vice president honing his reputation as a loyal deputy who brought the religious right into the tent and who was willing to defend the president against any accusation. Berated constantly by Trump after Joe Biden's victory—and even heckled at a conservative conference with chants of "traitor!"—Pence continued to praise the tycoon in public.

That eventually changed as Trump's torrent of false claims of election fraud led to a mob chanting for Pence to be hanged at the US Capitol.

Pence is framing himself as a traditional Republican, concerned with fiscal responsibility and family values, who can deliver Trump's policies on the economy, immigration and much else without the drama. Marking a contrast with Trump, Pence hasn't ruled out welfare cuts and has allied himself with Ukraine. He is an abortion hardliner who has opposed same-sex marriage. AFP

Byju's plans to list Aakash in 2024

Board of edtech company Byju's has granted its official sanction for this initial public offer

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

EDTECH company Byju's, which acquired tuition chain Aakash Educational Services for about $950 million deal in April 2021, will launch initial public offering (IPO) of Aakash in mid-2024.

Last month, this newspaper had reported that the company is in discussion with a few bankers to go ahead with the listing of its subsidiary.

The board of the edtech company has granted its official sanction for this IPO. "The appointment of the merchant bankers for the public issue will be announced soon to ensure a planned and successful listing next year. The upcoming IPO will provide a significant capital infusion to bolster Aakash's infrastructure, broaden its reach, and extend high-quality test-prep education to a larger number of students across the nation," the company said in a statement on Monday.

Since acquisition, Aakash has clocked a three-fold increase in revenue in the past two years.

Also, Aakash's revenue is on track to reach ₹4,000 crore with an EBITDA of ₹900 crore in FY24.

As per Ken Research, test-prep market revenues are predicted to grow at a CAGR (compound annual growth rate) of 9.3% over 2020-2025, led by the online test preparation segment that is predicted to grow at a CAGR of 42.3% over the same duration.

Aakash is one of the largest test prep companies for engineering and medical entrance exams, with over 325 centres currently serving over 400,000 students across the country.

Last year, Byju's had taken an unsecured loan of ₹300 crore from Aakash. The unsecured loan was granted to the edtech giant at 7.50% interest rate.

Byju's in a statement had said, "The ₹300 crore loan from Aakash Educational Services Limited is in effect an advance against the marketing activities and campaigns that Byju's has been running for Aakash." The company is yet to file its FY22 results with the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA).

Byju's is backed by investors including Chan-Zuckerberg Initiative, Naspers, CPPIB, General Atlantic, Tencent, Sequoia Capital, Sofina, Verlinvest, IFC, Aarin Capital, Lightspeed ventures and Tiger Global, among others.

In FY21, the company reported consolidated loss of ₹4,589 crore and the group's revenue in FY21 stood at ₹2,428 crore.

May retail auto sales up 10%, EV penetration touches 8%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

OWING to growing demand across categories, total auto retail sales experienced a 10% year-on-year (YoY) growth in May 2023 to 2,019,414 units, compared to 1,833,421 units during the same period last year, according to the data from the Federation of Automobile Dealers Associations (FADA).

While passenger vehicle (PV) sales grew by 4% to 298,873 units in May 2023 from 286,523 units same month last year, two-wheeler sales last month rose 9.5% to 14,93,234 units, showed Fada's data. Commercial vehicle retail grew by 7% to 77,135 units last month and three-wheeler retail sales rose 79% to 79,433 units last month. Tractor sales also surged to 70,739 units, up 10% YoY.

"While there has been a slight -2% decline compared to pre-COVID levels, the overall retail figures have shown improvement. The 2W and CV sales did continue to face some challenges, recording high single digit setback of -8% and -7% respectively," said FADA President Manish Raj Singhania.

Electric Vehicles (EVs) made an impressive leap in May, contributing to 8% of the total vehicle retail. This was buoyed by a surge in two-wheeler EV sales that contributed 7% and 3-wheeler EV sales contributed a substantial 56% of their respective total sales. The CV and PV categories also marked their presence in the EV landscape, with respective contributions of 0.5% and 2.5%.

Singhania said two-wheeler sales, which are under pressure for past many years, were positively influenced by seasonal factors like marriage season, changes in FAME subsidies effective from June, and the recovery of rural demand. The improved availability of vehicles, strength of pending orders, and the robust demand for new launches is helping PV segment rebound after a slump in April.

On the near-term outlook, the auto retail sector faces diverse challenges across the 2W, CV and PV segments, said Fada. For 2W, seasonal factors could boost demand, but concerns like weather-induced walk-in reductions, inventory, and regulatory norms persist, the association added.

"The PV sector expects increased demand, particularly for new models, Compact & full-sized SUVs and EVs, but inventory pressure and right model availability could pose challenge...The anticipated stable interest rates by RBI's Monetary Policy Committee could maintain vehicle demand and positively impact auto sales.

SBI Cards to raise ₹3,000 cr through NCDs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

SBI Cards and Payment Services on Monday announced its board of directors has approved raising of funds by way of issuance of Non-Convertible Debentures (NCDs) to ₹3,000 crore.

The company plans to raise the funds in one or more tranches, on a private placement basis.

"We wish to inform that the Board of Directors of the Company, at its meeting held today, has, inter alia, approved raising of funds by way of issuance of Non-Convertible Debentures (NCDs) aggregating to ₹3,000 Crores in one or more tranches, on private placement basis," said SBI Cards and Payment Services in a regulatory filing to the Bombay Stock Exchange on Monday.

For the fourth quarter, the company reported a 2.7% year-on-year increase in net profit at ₹596.5 crore. In the corresponding quarter last year, the company posted a net profit of ₹581 crore. In the March quarter, total revenue stood at ₹3,762.2 crore, up 32% against ₹2,850.3 crore in the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal.

The gross non-performing assets (GNPAs) were at 2.35% of gross advances as of March 31, 2023, against 2.22% as of March 31, 2022. Net non-performing assets (NPAs) were at 0.87% as of March 31, 2023, against 0.78 percent as of March 31, 2022.

Amazon @10: 'On track to create 20L jobs by 2025, enables $20 bn in exports'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

IT has been a decade since Amazon started its business in India, and on Monday, the ecommerce giant said they are on track to deliver digitisation of 1 crore small businesses, enable $20 billion in exports, and create 20 lakh jobs by 2025.

"We have already digitised over 40 lakh small businesses, enabled over $5 billion in cumulative exports, and created more than 11 lakh direct and indirect jobs," the company said. "With a young and vibrant population, rising income levels, and increasing penetration of the internet and social media, the future is exciting. We remain committed to innovating for customers, and enabling small businesses and startups to contribute to India's vision of becoming a $1 trillion digital economy," said Manish Tiwary, Country Manager, India Consumer Business, in a blog post.

Amazon said when it went live on June 5, 2013, common wisdom dictated that the company would bring its global playbook to India, tweak it slightly, and make it work. But the India marketplace was built differently from the start, and was unlike Amazon in other parts of the world.

"I remember going to this popular electronics store in Mumbai to bring them on Amazon.in. We had a long discussion with them about the potential of selling online, but weren't making much headway. Finally, after sitting in the store for over 6 hours, we managed to convince them to list a few products with us," recalled Amit Agarwal, SVP, India & Emerging Markets.

Back in 2013, sellers weren't queuing to sign up, and they were unfamiliar with the concept of selling online and couldn't imagine that Indians would actually want to buy products online. "This challenge needed not just innovation, but Indian ingenuity and execution agility...Our approach from Day 1 was to digitise businesses of all sizes to enable the largest selection of products, use technology to remove inefficiencies and unlock greater value for customers," the ecommerce company said. It also recalled the partnership with India Post in 2013 as a landmark moment.

'India marketplace was built differently'

Adani Group repays loans worth $2.65 billion

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

ADANI GROUP on Monday said it has repaid loans totalling $2.65 billion to complete a prepayment programme to cut overall leverage in an attempt to win back investor trust after US-based short-seller Hindenburg Research levelled allegation of financial irregularities against the conglomerate.

In a Credit Note released on Monday, billionaire Gautam Adani-led group said it has made a full prepayment of $2.15 billion of loans that were taken by pledging shares in the conglomerate's listed firms and also another $700 million in loans taken for the acquisition of Ambuja Cement. The prepayment was done along with interest payment of $203 million.

"The deleveraging programme testifies to the strong liquidity management and capital access at sponsor level even in volatile market conditions, supplementing the solid capital prudence adopted at all portfolio companies," Adani Group said in the credit update.

Group prepays $203 mn interest payment

In a Credit Note, Gautam Adani-led group said it has made a full prepayment of $2.15 bn of loans that were taken by pledging shares in the conglomerate's listed firms and another $700 mn in loans taken for acquisition of Ambuja Cement. The prepayment was done along with interest payment of $203 million.

The promoters completed the sale of shares in four listed group entities to GQG Partners, a leading global investment firm, for $1.87 billion (Rs15,446 crore), said the note.

Hindenburg in January released a report alleging accounting fraud and stock price manipulation at Adani Group, triggering a stock market rout that had erased about $145 billion in the conglomerate's market value at its lowest point.

Adani Group has denied all allegations by Hindenburg and is plotting a comeback strategy. The group has recast its ambitions as well as prepaid some loans to assuage investors.

The credit update further highlights major improvements in key financial metrics - the portfolio's combined Net Debt to EBITDA ratio has decreased from 3.81 in FY22 to 3.27 in FY23, run rate EBITDA surged from ₹50,706 crore in FY22 to ₹66,566 crore in FY23. The credit update further states that the banking lines of Adani Group continue to show confidence by disbursing new debt and rolling over existing lines of credit.

GST Council meet: GSTAT on agenda

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE GST Council in its next meeting, likely to be held in the third or fourth week of this month, will take up the issue of taxing online gaming, casinos, and horse racing, a top government official confirmed to this newspaper.

"The next GST Council will be held this month, most probably in the third or fourth week of this month. The Council will discuss the report by Group of Ministers (GoM) on taxation of online gaming, casinos and race courses," a top official said. However, he didn't confirm anything on reducing taxes on cement. The GoM has recommended 28% GST on online gaming, however, there is a contention on the method of levying this tax. While, some States are in favour of imposing 28% tax on the fees charged by the portal, others want it to be on the full value of gaming amount.

In the 49th GST Council meet, which was held in February, the issue couldn't be taken up as the Meghalaya Chief Minister, Conrad Sangama, who is also heading the GoM on online gaming, was preoccupied with the State elections and couldn't attend the meet.

In addition, the Council will also give its approval to the operational framework of the GST Appellate Tribunal in its next meet. "Rules have been framed for the operation of GSTAT, this will be presented before the Council for their clearance. Hopefully, the tribunal will be functional by the end of this year," the official who didn't wish to be named said.

The Council in its 49th meeting, which was held in February, had approved the creation of National Bench of the Goods and Services Tax Appellate Tribunal (GSTAT) in principle. The National Bench of the Appellate Tribunal shall be situated at New Delhi. GSTAT shall be presided over by its President and shall consist of one Technical Member (Centre) and one Technical Member (State).

ONDC launches B2B trade on its platform, merchants can engage with other biz

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

OPEN NETWORK FOR DIGITAL COMMERCE (ONDC), the government-backed interoperable e-commerce network, on Monday announced the launch of business-to-business (B2B) trade on its platform.

With this, the merchants will be able to engage directly with other businesses in wholesale trade.

According to the statement issued by ONDC, its network offers a much-needed solution in today's time when there is limited credit access, high logistics costs and thin profit margins.

"By fostering seamless connectivity and digital transformation, ONDC empowers businesses to overcome these hurdles and embrace the advantages of B2B commerce. Leveraging the open network, businesses can expand their reach, forge new partnerships and tap into previously untapped markets," the release said. SignCatch and Rapisor have successfully enabled both the B2B buyer and B2B seller side platforms on ONDC, fostering seamless interporability between sellers and buyers. This implementation allows sellers to utilize SignCatch to receive orders from Rapidor's B2B buyer platform effortlessly and vice versa, said the release.

"With the launch of the B2B-enabled open network open network, we are ushering in a new era of e-commerce where businesses can thrive online, overcoming the challenges that have held them back," said T. KOshy, managing director and chief executive officer of ONDC.

RBI panel recommends proposals to improve banks' customer services

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

A committee appointed by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Monday recommended a slew of initiatives aimed at improving services for the customers of banks and other entities regulated by the central bank.

The main proposals of the committee, which is headed by former deputy governor BP Kanungo, include a 'Customer Service and Protection Index', a centralised KYC database, online settlement of claims by heirs of deceased account holders and a common platform for filing complaints.

The report of the Committee for Review of Customer Service Standards in RBI Regulated Entities (REs) has also suggested that the operations of accounts should not be stopped pending periodic Know Your Customer (KYC) updates.

"The Reserve Bank may develop and publish a 'Customer Service and Protection Index' with a view to capture, at the system level, the quality / standards of customer service and extent of customer protection in the REs through a single score," said the committee.

It recommended that there should be a time limit for the return of property documents to borrowers after the closure of the loan account, failing which a penalty should be imposed on the lender.

The committee reviewed the complaints received under the RE's Internal Grievance Redress (IGR) mechanism in the last three years and observed that the number of complaints has been range-bound in the region of around one crore complaints per annum, the report said. The REs, it suggested, "may adopt a nuanced approach for risk categorisation of the customers. For example, salary earners with inflows and outflows consistent with the customer's profile need not necessarily be categorised as high risk, even though they may be 'high net worth' individuals".

Similarly, students can also be categorised as low-risk.

The report said till the recommendation for a common complaint portal is put in place, the REs should have a system to enable the complainant to track the progress in the processing of the complaint.

"Customer-facing staff and officers should undergo mandatory training in soft skills to reduce instances of misbehaviour by the errant staff/officers," it said. The committee has also suggested measures for the benefit of pensioners.

The pensioners, it said, should be able to submit Life Certificate (LC) at any branch of the bank in which they maintain their pension account.

Oil price up by nearly 2% after Saudi announces reduction in production

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE crude price in the international market on Monday jumped by $1.86 a barrel or 2.44% as Saudi Arabia announced a cut in its oil production.

Brent Crude price was trading at $77.86 a barrel while US West Texas Intermediate was trading at 73.53 a barrel at 6.50 pm IST. Saudi Arabia, top oil producer, announced that its output would drop to 9 million barrels per day (bpd) in July 2023 from around 10 million bpd in May 2023. The cut is Saudi Arabia's biggest in years.

This comes after Opec (the Organization of the Oil Exporting Countries), which produces nearly 30% of the world's crude oil, decided to reduce the production of crude by 1.16 million barrels per day from May 2023 until the end of the year. Russia too said it would curtail a million barrels per day until the end of the year.

"While production volumes have been cut, crude oil prices have been under pressure owing to weaker than expected demand from China and recessionary trends in several Western economies," said Prashant Vasisht, Vice President and Co-Head, Corporate Ratings, ICRA Limited.

He further said in case crude oil prices increase upstream companies like ONGC would benefit from higher realisations and cash accruals on crude oil sales. However the marketing profits from oil marketing companies would decline or turn to losses depending upon the extent of rise.

Meanwhile, in India the decision to cut production by Saudi Arabia is not going to impact much on its domestic fuel price. Petrol and diesel prices have been on a freeze for a record 14 months now. Prices were last changed in May 2022, when the government cut excise duty to give relief to consumers.

Ibrahimovic announces retirement from football

Zlatan Ibrahimovic brought the curtain down on a long, trophy-packed career on Sunday when he unexpectedly announced his retirement from football. Veteran striker Ibrahimovic revealed his decision to quit the game during an on-pitch ceremony following AC Milan's 3-1 win over Verona. "It's the moment to say goodbye to football, not just to you," said Ibrahimovic on the San Siro pitch.

As the world braces for yet another final of a global cricketing event, Swaroop Swaminathan takes a look at the proposed ICC revenue distribution model, the disparities between the top and bottom of the table and how it affects the countries who need more assistance to grow the sport in their backyard...

THE GREAT DIVIDE IN CRICKET FAMILY

ICC WORLD TEST CHAMPIONSHIP FINAL 2023

1 DAY TO GO

BY the time you finish reading this 5-minute piece, the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) could earn as much as $2,190. If the same proposed revenue distribution model of the International Cricket Council (ICC) is ratified in the next few weeks, non-Test playing nations will make, on an average, $7 in that same 5-minute period over the next four years.

Welcome to the world of international cricket where some teams are God while others have to look for coins inside their sofa to enter the sanctum sanctorum.

This kind of financial inequality will be on show in the two ICC events in June. First the undercard. In Zimbabwe, the World Cup qualifiers will be on. There will be genuine jeopardy as four full members join six associate nations to earn the right to feature at the 50-over competition in India this winter. Just before that event begins, two of the elites, Australia and India, will contest the final of the World Test Championship.

Per the proposal — first reported by Cricinfo last month — India ($230 mn) and Australia ($37 mn) stand to make just south of $270 mn per year over the next four-year period. In Zimbabwe? While the four full members combined could earn just north of $85mn, the six associates between them, including Nepal, the sport's latest hail mary, will combine to take home less than $5mn a year.

If the proposal receives the green light, the associates — in itself a pejorative term — will receive roughly $1.1 for every $10 the ICC distributes (the BCCI, as it stands, will almost make 4 out of every 10).

It is this disparity that Sumod Damodar wants to address. Damodar, one of the elected associate member representatives and a part of the 20-strong ICC Chief Executives Committee, makes the point that 'associate members will always be second cousins'. At the outset, he explains that he's not against India getting a bigger share of the pie. "I don't think anybody opposes India getting (a share of the revenue), there's no doubt that India generates more money. But... the focus is that when you are dividing the pie, instead of a top-down approach, can we not look at it bottom up?"

There is a reason why Damodar, who is the chairman of the African Cricket Association as well as the deputy chair of the Botswana Cricket Association, echoes the same sort of sentiments shared by the likes of Michael Atherton, a cricketer-turned-commentator, and Gideon Haigh, a cricket historian. Right now, the money is going to places that least need them. While nobody says no to more money, some countries need it to put food on the table while others want it to season their Michelin star restaurant.

Here's Damodar. "What are the associates getting and why are they getting only so much? That should be the focus. The highest-ranked associate (according to the scoreboard) gets $800,000 per year. The lowest-ranked associate gets $18,000.

"That's the kind of disparity that exists, even within the associate structure. You can't promote any cricket on that basis. My argument is middle and lower-ranked teams to get more and to increase the overall kitty so that there is a proportional increase."

While the likes of England and Wales Cricket Board (ECB) have come out in support of the proposed distribution, not everybody is happy. The Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB), for example, wanted the ICC to give them an explanation behind how the figures were arrived at. "We are insisting that the ICC should tell us how these figures were arrived at," Najam Sethi, the head of the organisation, had told Reuters in May. "We are not happy with the situation as it stands. Come June, when the board is expected to approve the financial model, unless these details are provided to us, we are not going to approve it."

Here's a very rudimentary idea of how these figures were arrived at. All Test-playing nations have a standing start before various factors — history, achievements of both senior teams at ICC meets, commercial contribution et. al. — are keyed in to arrive at the final figure. In other words, The Big Three of India, Australia and England already have a hard-wired advantage because, by default, these teams tend to enjoy home advantage at most ICC events. And because India enjoys the biggest TV market, they have an add-on advantage that no other nation can hope to match.

Take for example, the West Indies. They have hosted one ICC white-ball event since 2008 (the women's T20 World Cup in 2018). And with the Islands having fewer people than Mumbai, TV revenue is low. Atherton makes that point in his column. "... In a region of only five million people, its television revenues are low (how much it contributes commercially to the ICC deal is put at 0.1 per cent)." So, naturally this system will permanently be weighted against countries like the West Indies and will always reward nations like India and, to a lesser extent, England and Australia.

Damodar, who has his roots in Kerala, understandably doesn't want to focus on what the BCCI makes in one hour or or one day. "The minute you say India is getting so much in one hour and so much in one day and associates get this much in one hour, sorry to say but you are already pissing people off. That's how it works. This isn't about how much India is making... what is the ICC speaking about? Development, growth, expansion... all nice things but how do we put these things into practice? This is where the element of funding is key, coupled with the right personnel. What we are saying is they (ICC) have overlooked certain factors. It's not a done deal yet. So, it's good to get our views out into the open as well."

At a time when there is a genuine push to see the sport at the Olympics, this is a reminder about the miles it has to travel before it can truly satisfy the first line of the 'Olympic Solidarity' chapter. "It aims to ensure that athletes with talent have an equal chance of reaching the Games and succeeding in the Olympic arena."

MAKING THE BALL TALK

In the build up to the WTC Final, the Dukes ball, the best possible pace attack of the respective teams and how they will adapt are among the key talking points. Former Australian pacer and current South Australia coach Jason Gillespie believes that Scott Boland will play ahead of Michael Neser in place of injured Josh Hazlewood and expects India to field both R Ashwin & Ravindra Jadeja (unless the conditions change dramatically) with Shardul Thakur missing out. In a conversation with Gomesh S, he talks about what each frontline pacer brings to the table for the summit clash...

MOHAMMED SHAMI

His wrist position and seam presentation is as good as any bowler in the world. One thing he could do is maybe hold the ball slightly off-centre and try to wobble the ball down the pitch as opposed to having a beautiful seam presentation. Maybe the odd delivery where he holds the ball slightly across the seam just to see if it creates something different out there. I think that could make him even more dangerous. He doesn't have to change his wrist position or anything, just releasing the ball from a slightly different holding, how he's holding the ball and the ball may just do something a little bit unexpected like it might wobble, it might just nip off the seam one way or the other and create doubt in the batter's mind. He's a wonderful bowler to watch and I love watching how he goes about his business.

MOHAMMED SIRAJ

He likes to create opportunities to take wickets. He's not afraid to try things. Which is fine, I like that. But he's still got to make sure that his best ball is a very good line and length. And even though he is bowling the cutters wider the crease and closer to the stumps, trying different things, he's still got to hit a spot on the wicket that is challenging the front pad. And if he's doing that bowling wider the crease or closer to the stumps, and holding the ball differently and cutting his fingers across the ball, that's fine, but he's still going to have to manage his line and length. And that for me would be the only thing.

PAT CUMMINS

He's at the absolute height of his powers, he's so exciting to watch. He's bowling with genuine pace. He's always great at taking the ball away from the right hander, but he managed to develop a very dangerous late-swinging inswinger. We saw it last summer. If you think he is going to swing the Duke ball, we don't know. But, it wouldn't be a surprise to me if he bowls extremely well with the Dukes ball. He might not have played a lot in England, but his record from the few matches he's played is very very good.

UMESH YADAV

I think India will think about playing Umesh and the reason I think that is because he's got air speed, he can bowl quite quickly. I think just that extra air speed might just get him over the line. He's not afraid to bowl some short stuff and he's not afraid to try and blow the batter's toes away with the yorkers. He's aggressive and because he bowls fast. I think he's got a pretty simple repeatable action. I suspect India will strongly consider playing him.

SCOTT BOLAND

He's just relentless with his line and length. He just (keeps) hitting that spot on the wicket that's basically hitting at the top off-stump/fourth stump line. He just gets the ball to sort of maybe nibble a little bit off the seam both back into the right-hander and away from the right-hander. He's an excellent bowler to left-handers when he comes around the wicket. It keeps the stumps in play, it challenges the outside edge. It also challenges the front pad. He's a brilliant performer.

MITCHELL STARC

He's a fine bowler with over 300 Test wickets. Sometimes, he can go for a few runs but I look at his strike rate and he takes wickets regularly. He is a key partnership breaker. He probably bowls as full as any fast bowler. His average length is fuller than most bowlers who have ever played. I just think he's a wonderful bowler who creates that indecision and more often than not, in his first spell, he'll take a wicket and bowlers like that are very rare.

SHARDUL THAKUR

Yeah, he swings the ball. So anyone that swings the ball can go bang, bang and take a couple of wickets. It's pretty hard to leave either one of them (spinners) out. It allows them to pick their best pace attack if they play with them (spinners) batting at No. 7-8. It allows India to pick their best three seamers and I think they probably see him (Thakur) more as a bowling all-rounder but probably not in their best three (pacers). I think if they play four seamers, he will definitely play, but I suspect India may go with both spinners and that way they will play the three seamers and Thakur could probably miss out. He does bring a bit of X-factor because he can swing the ball and if they feel that the swinging ball will be a factor there, then he may come into the calculations to play at the expense of the extra yard.

ON FUTURE OF TEST CRICKET

Yes, I am slightly concerned. But, hopefully Test Cricket still stays alive and well. I think it's in a good place at the moment. Some of the games we've seen recently have been pretty amazing. So, for me as, I suppose, a traditionalist, someone that loves Test cricket, I hope it still remains at the front of all the Board's mind and stay alive and well for some time to come. — Steve Smith, Australia vice-captain

I know it is complicated and that it's hard to go into depth in a press conference and there are a variety of reasons why that is probably not happening, both in terms of time, finances, there are many things that go into it. But certainly, we'd like to see a lot more Test cricket - personally at least, I'd like to see a lot more Test cricket. — Rahul Dravid, India head coach

Protest spills over to trials venue in Sonepat

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

THE day began with reports emerging about the withdrawal of wrestlers Sakshi Malik and Bajrang Punia from the protest. The duo rubbished the reports later in the day claiming they will continue their fight for justice. They also held such malicious reports as an attempt to sabotage their movement.

The protest, however, seems to have spilled over to the SAI centre in Sonepat where four-day selection trials to pick up the U-15 and 20 teams for the Asian Championships started on Monday. The trials are being conducted by the ad-hoc committee formed by the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) to manage the day-to-day affairs of the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI).

Sources in the know of things informed this daily that it all started when a woman coach from Punjab started clicking pictures of the ongoing bouts. "One of the male coaches present at the venue stopped the woman from clicking pictures. Terming her close to the beleaguered WFI chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh, the male coach engaged in a scuffle with the woman. He even took her phone. The ad-hoc got to know about the incident. Its members along with others present at the venue handled the situation. They even made the male coach to return the mobile phone to the woman," said the sources.

The day saw trials in all 10 weight categories of U-15 and 20 age groups. Around 450 wrestlers competed. Trials to select Greco-Roman and freestyle wrestlers for the championships will begin on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Bajrang also claimed people now want them to lose their jobs with Indian Railways. "Those who said our medals were worth ₹15 each are now after our jobs. Our life is at stake, a job is a very small thing in front of that. If the job appears to create an obstacle in the way of justice, then we will not take even ten seconds to quit it. Do not threaten us with a job," the Tokyo Olympic bronze medallist tweeted in Hindi. Vinesh Phogat, the two-time World Championships medallist, also tweeted the same message in Hindi.

The trio is employed with the Northern Railway. Rumours started flying thick and fast when it was reported that Sakshi has resumed her work in the Railways. But Northern Railway sources confirmed to this daily that the three wrestlers have resumed their work on May 30 and 31.

Shot putter Siddharth pockets gold medal

YECHEON (SOUTH KOREA): Shot putter Siddharth Choudhary clinched India's third gold of the Asian U-20 Athletics Championship with a personal best of 19.52m. The 17-year-old achieved his best throw of 19.52m in his third attempt to better his earlier personal best of 19.11m at the junior level.

BAI launches rectification scheme to curb age fraud

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

AGE-RELATED issues have been a major talking point in Indian badminton in recent times. The Badminton Association of India (BAI), the governing body of the sport in the country, has introduced a Voluntary Age Rectification Scheme (VARS) to tackle the issue and ensure a level playing field for all participants.

According to the scheme, which was approved during the Executive Committee Meeting and Annual General Meeting of BAI on May 21 in Guwahati, registered players — who have an existing BAI id — who have discrepancies in their age can rectify their date of birth within 20 days starting from June 6 (till June 25).

"The Association has taken serious note of recent age fraud complaints and instances of purported age frauds. To combat this issue and ensure a level playing field, BAI is implementing stringent measures against players found guilty of age fraud in BAI sanctioned tournaments," the BAI stated in its circular.

Grand effort: Haddad Maia ends Brazil's 55-year wait

AFP @Paris

BEATRIZ Haddad Maia battled from a set and 3-0 down to defeat Sara Sorribes Tormo in the third longest women's match ever played at Roland Garros to reach a maiden Grand Slam quarterfinal.

The 27-year-old Brazilian left-hander came through 6-7 (3), 6-3, 7-5 against her 132nd-ranked Spanish opponent on Court Suzanne Lenglen after three hours and 51 minutes.

The match was just 16 minutes short of the record four hours and seven minutes it took Virginie Buisson to beat French compatriot Noelle van Lottum in the first round at Roland Garros in 1995.

Haddad Maia is the first Brazilian woman in a Slam quarterfinal since seven-time major winner Maria Bueno in 1968 and will face World No 7 Ons Jabeur of Tunisia for a place in the semifinals. Meanwhile, Coco Gauff reached the quarterfinals for a third successive year with a 7-5, 6-2 win over Anna Karolina Schmiedlova. Gauff will face Iga Swiatek, who got past Lesia Tsurenko of Ukraine.

In the men's section, Casper Ruud reached the quarterfinals after beating Chile's Nicolas Jarry 7-6 (3), 7-5, 7-5. He avenged last month's Geneva Open quarterfinal defeat by Jarry.

Pill halves risk of death in a type of lung cancer

A pill has been shown to halve the risk of death from a certain type of lung cancer when taken daily after surgery to remove the tumor, according to clinical trial results presented on Sunday

RESULTS UNVEILED AT CONFERENCE

The results were unveiled in Chicago at the largest annual conference of cancer specialists, hosted by the American Society for Clinical Oncology (ASCO)

APPROXIMATELY 1.8 MILLION FATALITIES

Lung cancer is the form of the disease that causes the most deaths, with approximately 1.8 million fatalities every year worldwide

TAGRISSO

The treatment developed by the pharmaceutical group AstraZeneca is called osimertinib and is marketed under the name Tagrisso

NON-SMALL CELL CANCER

It targets a particular type of lung cancer in patients suffering from so-called non-small cell cancer, the most common type, and showing a particular type of mutation

EPIDERMAL GROWTH FACTOR RECEPTOR

These mutations, on what is called the epidermal growth factor receptor, or EGFR, affect 10% to 25% of lung cancer patients in the United States and Europe, and 30 to 40% in Asia

LUNG CANCER SEEN ON X-RAY

CLINICAL TRIAL INCLUDED 680 PARTICIPANTS

The clinical trial included some 680 participants at an early stage of the disease (stages 1b to 3a), in more than 20 countries

They had to have been operated on first to remove the tumor, then half of the patients took the treatment daily, and the other a placebo

51% REDUCTION

RESULTS OF THE TRIAL

The result showed that taking the tablet resulted in a 51% reduction in the risk of death for treated patients, compared to placebo

After five years, 88% of patients who took the treatment were still alive, compared to 78% of patients who took the placebo

IMPRESSIVE DATA

These data are "impressive," said Roy Herbst of Yale University, who presented them in Chicago. The drug helps "prevent the cancer from spreading to the brain, to the liver, to the bones," he added at a press conference

Medicine administered to 700,000 people

Osimertinib is already authorised in dozens of countries for various indications, and has already been given to some 700,000 people, according to a press release from AstraZeneca

Approval in United States

Its approval in the United States for early stages in 2020 was based on previous data that showed an improvement in patient disease-free survival, that is, the time a patient lives without a recurrence of cancer

SIDE EFFECTS: Osimertinib, which targets the receptor, causes side effects that include severe fatigue, skin rashes or diarrhoea

Nikki Haley receives backlash for Tweet

On World Environment day, the former South Carolina governor called India and China, "some of biggest polluters"

ENVIRONMENT

A tweet by US Republican presidential candidate Nikki Haley on Monday, drew severe backlash from many users who reprimanded her for her controversial remarks.

The former South Carolina governor whose roots trace back to India took to Twitter on World Environment day where she called India and China, "some of the biggest polluters." "If we want to be serious about saving the environment, we need to confront India and China," Haley, wrote. "They are some of the biggest polluters."

However, many Twitter users were enraged at her remarks deeming them to be hypocritical as historically US has been one of the biggest emitters of global greenhouse gas emissions.

According to Global Carbon Project, since 1959, the world has spewed 1.41 trillion metric tons of carbon dioxide.

In 2020, China spewed more than more than 10.6 billion metric tons, which is 30.6% of the globe's carbon dioxide emissions and more than twice as much carbon pollution as the United States which was the next highest emitter at 13.5%, scientists calculated.

Republican presidential candidate former UN Ambassador Nikki Haley | AP

The European Union, when lumped together, comes in third at 7.5% followed by India's 7%. A government report by the United States in November 2022 stated the country needs to make far faster and deeper cuts to greenhouse gas emissions over the next three decades to meet international goals to rein in the worst effects of climate change. The United States is the world's second biggest emitter after China.

In response to Haley's comment, netizens shared data on Twitter which showcased US as being one of the top emitters of carbon dioxide.

This thread further spiralled into users calling out Haley for trying to shed her 'Indianess' by throwing the country under the bus.

One of the users named Shailendra Malik said: "I am beginning to believe, Indians as CEOs of different American companies is a good thing but as politicians, they are the most useless of the personalities."

"Their worldview & the need, to prove to everyone that they can be more American than the Americans or more British than the British, always force them to talk all nonsense about India without seeing the facts," he added.

Another posted a graph of top carbon dioxide emitting countries and said, "Look at your mirror first...."

Ritual sacrifice at volcano

CULTURE

Thousands of Hindu worshippers scaled an active Indonesian volcano on Monday to toss livestock, food and other offerings into its smoking crater in a centuries-old religious ceremony. Monday's ritual was the first time since the pandemic that authorities had allowed tourists to the site. The event has its roots in 15th-century folklore from the Majapahit kingdom, a Javanese Hindu-Buddhist empire. Legend has it that Princess Roro Anteng and her husband, unable to bear children after years of marriage, begged the gods for help. Their prayers were answered when they were promised 25 children, as long as they agreed to sacrifice their youngest.

Hit Vermeer show ends

ART

Amsterdam's famous Rijksmuseum drew the curtain Sunday on its "most successful" exhibition featuring paintings of Dutch master Johannes Vermeer, saying hundreds of thousands of art lovers flocked to the capital for the blockbuster show. Long queues formed daily outside the Rijksmuseum since the exhibition opened on February 10, boasting the largest collection of works by the 17th-century artist ever gathered under a single roof. "Despite having carefully limited numbers to give visitors the best experience possible, the Rijksmuseum's Vermeer exhibition finished as the most successful exhibition in its history," the museum said.

UK to house illegal migrants on ships

OUT OF THE BOX

LONDON: British Prime Minister Rishi Sunak on Monday claimed that his plan to "stop the boats" of illegal migrants coming to UK shores is working as he announced plans to house them on ships to reduce pressure on taxpayer-funded hotels.

Addressing a press conference at the border town of Dover in Kent, Sunak said first such ship will be ready later this month and two others to accommodate a further 1,000 migrants soon after.

He pointed out that important legislation, referred to as the Illegal Migration Bill or Stop the Boats Bill, has cleared the House of Commons and will give his government the right to detain and deport migrants who enter the country illegally.

"I promised we would get illegal migrants out of hotels ' and into alternative sites, including military facilities," said Sunak. "To reduce pressures on local communities, we'll also house people on ships. The first will arrive in Portland in the next fortnight. And we've secured another two today that will accommodate another 1,000,' he said. New large sites will also open at Wethersfield and Scampton, with hundreds of migrants expected to move in over the next few months with a capacity to accommodate around 3,000 by later this year. Sunak said besides adding alternative accommodation options, he is determined to make more efficient use of hotels. "By asking people to share rooms, where it's appropriate to do so we've found an additional 11,500 places which will save taxpayers an extra GBP 250 million a year. And I say to those migrants who are objecting: this is more than fair," said Sunak, in an apparent reference to reports that emerged of migrants protesting outside a hotel in central London against being forced to share rooms.

Monitoring Iran's N-bases an uphill task

ENERGY

VIENNA: UN nuclear watchdog chief Rafael Grossi warned on Monday that cooperation with Iran on better monitoring its nuclear programme was "very slow", saying while some cameras and other equipment had been installed again "a lot more" needed to be done.

In March, Iran agreed to reconnect surveillance cameras at several nuclear sites almost a year after they were turned off, as the Islamic republic has stepped up its atomic programme despite a landmark 2015 deal. The deal—curbing Iran's nuclear programme in exchange for sanctions relief—started to fall apart in 2018 when the US unilaterally withdrew from it and reimposed sanctions. Efforts to revive it have been fruitless so far.

Grossi said "implementing a number of voluntary additional monitoring and verification measures" as agreed in March was "going very slow". Earlier, he said "some progress has been made, but not as much as I had hoped", adding what had been done so far was "a fraction of what we envisaged".

Jacinda Ardern receives top honour

AWARD

Former Prime Minister Jacinda Ardern on Monday received one of New Zealand's highest honours for her service leading the country through a mass shooting and pandemic. Ardern was made a Dame Grand Companion, the second-highest honour in New Zealand, as part of King Charles III's Birthday Honours. It means people will now call her Dame Jacinda. Royal honourees are typically chosen twice a year in New Zealand by the prime minister and signed off by Charles, the British king who is also recognised as New Zealand's king. Ardern was just 37 when she became prime minister in 2017, and was seen as a global icon of the left. She shocked New Zealanders in January when she said she was stepping down as leader after more than five years because she no longer had "enough in the tank" to do it justice.

TAKE A SAD SONG AND MAKE IT BETTER

Fans rejoice as Artificial Intelligence creates 'new' Beatles music

TECHNOLOGY

WASHINGTON: When the Beatles broke up more than 50 years ago, devastated fans were left yearning for more. Now, artificial intelligence is offering just that.

From "re-uniting" the Fab Four on songs from their solo careers, to re-imagining surviving superstar Paul McCartney's later works with his voice restored to its youthful peak, the new creations show off how far this technology has come—and raise a host of ethical and legal questions.

"I'm sobbing! This is so beautiful!!!" wrote a listener in a typical YouTube comment for a fan-created AI cover of McCartney's 2013 single, "New," which features de-aged vocals and a bridge part "sung" by his great songwriting partner and friend, the late John Lennon.

Equally impressive is a version of "Grow Old With Me," one of the last songs penned by Lennon, which was posthumously released after his 1980 murder and recently remade by an AI creator who goes by "Dae Lims."

With enhanced audio quality, an orchestral arrangement and harmonized backing vocals that evoke the Liverpudlian rockers' heyday, the song's most stirring moment comes when McCartney croons over a soaring melody with poignant lyrics about aging.

"When I hear this, I lose it. I start crying," said music YouTuber Steve Onotera, who goes by "SamuraiGuitarist" and has a million followers, in a recent video discussing the new works' unforeseen sentimental resonance.

Towards a new world

For the music industry, the ramifications are enormous. As technology progresses, software that will easily allow people to transform their vocals into one of their favourite singers is likely not far away. Copyright can be asserted by songwriter sand holders of master recordings

After the most influential band in history parted ways acrimoniously, fans were deprived of a final "happy ending," he said. "So when we do get that reunion artificially yet convincingly created by AI, well, it's surprisingly emotional." Like an earlier track called "Heart on a Sleeve" which featured AI-generated vocals of Drake and The Weeknd and racked up millions of hits on TikTok and other platforms, these covers use scraping technology that analyses and captures the nuances of a particular voice.

The creators would have probably then sung the parts themselves and then applied the cloned voice, in a manner similar to placing a filter on a photograph.

While the results can be astonishing, getting there isn't simple and requires skilled human operators combining new AI tools with extensive knowledge of traditional music processing software, Zohaib Ahmed, the CEO of Resemble AI, a voice cloning company, said. "I think we're still seeing a very small percentage of the population that can even access these tools," he said. They need to "jump through hoops, read documentation, have the right computer, and then put it all together."

Ahmed's company is one of several offering a platform that can make the technology more accessible to clients in the entertainment sector.

STICKING WITH VICTORY

After India's victory at the 2023 Men's Hockey Junior Asia Cup, their goalkeeper, who was also the best goalie of the tournament, speaks to CE about training in Bengaluru, playing against Pakistan and the upcoming Junior World Cup

TUNIR BISWAS

ON June 1, 2023, a sport rich in success as per our country's history, added a new feather to its cap after India beat Pakistan 2-1 in the final of the 2023 Men's Hockey Junior Asia Cup. This was India's fourth time winning the tournament making them the most decorated team of this championship (with Pakistan again being in second place with three wins). Goalkeeper of the Indian team, Mohith HS, hailing from Karnataka, who was also declared the 'Goalkeeper of the Tournament', feels playing in the Cup was a great experience.

"Getting international exposure is always good for us. And a final against Pakistan always puts a lot of pressure on us not just because of the teams but also the relationship between our two countries. But I would say that we were pleasantly surprised at the huge crowd that was in attendance. So many people, for both the teams, had come to watch the match," shares the 21-year-old about the championship that was held in Salalah, Oman, from May 23 to June 1.

Incidentally, India and Pakistan were also placed in the same group, where their match culminated in a 1-1 draw. "It was a little tough when we faced them in the group stage because we didn't know what to expect. But before the finals, we knew what we were getting into and were able to prepare better," shares Mohith.

He also feels Bengaluru is a great city to learn the basics of hockey. "The infrastructure for hockey in this city is pretty good. It is especially useful if you're new to the sport and want to strengthen your basics. Here in the city, I trained at the academy of the Department of Youth Empowerment and Sports. I was also doing extra practice to get ahead of others. I figured out that if I was training like everyone else, I wouldn't be noticed. So, I dedicated my time to some extra practice," says Mohith, who hails from Hassan, but has been training in the city for four years.

Being the Asian champions in their category is not enough, Mohith says the Indian team is eyeing the 2023 Men's FIH (International Hockey Federation) Hockey Junior World Cup to be held in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia between December 5 and 16. "Currently, we are preparing for the Junior World Cup. Our goal has always been that, and performing well in this tournament helped us qualify for the World Cup. So, the Junior Asia Cup was always a stepping stone to our main ambition. But since are continental champions now, we are also looking forward to playing in the European tournaments and facing European teams," he concludes. Outside of India, Pakistan, South Korea and Malaysia have also qualified for the Junior World Cup.

Controversial chapter

The periodic table, democracy, and sources of energy are the latest deletions from NCERT-issued Class 10 textbooks. Educationists, students and parents weigh in

DESE GOWDA

A few days ago, the National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) announced another controversial revision to Class 10 textbooks, with chapters on challenges to democracy, the periodic table and more being the latest casualties of NCERT's rationalisation exercise. The decision, based on the premise of alleviating the burden on students, has sparked debate regarding its potential consequences, including making students ill-equipped for higher education. Karyn Felsinger, a teacher whose son is currently studying in Class 10 believes that revisions to textbooks over the last year is an attempt to revise history. "Chapters on Mughals and Gandhi's assassination were also removed recently. When children enter that delicate age of 15-16, they need to be taught about the world. These days, children get a lot of information on their own from the internet and if schools aren't presenting them with an accurate picture of the world, then what is the point? I am worried about the upcoming generation," she adds.

Meanwhile, Manan Pirgal, a Class 10 student at Ekya International School believes that the changes are not impactful to his learning.

"We have already studied these concepts in earlier grades. It does not make a difference as people who will take science after Class 10 will study them again," says Pirgal, who will pursue commerce from Class 11.

Fr Suniel Fernandes, principal of St Joseph's Boys' High School believes the changes are detrimental to the ability of students. "It is a good idea to expose students to many perspectives and ideas. I don't think concepts like democracy and the periodic table are going to burden a child. Rather, they get to learn about an idea and its pros and cons. We have to remember that schools are supposed to equip students with the fundamentals. It's not about exams and whether it will burden a child's ability to get good grades," he says.

Meanwhile, Suma Bhat, another parent, believes children should be allowed to choose what they want to study from Class 8. "If they think teaching these concepts are burdening students, then students should be allowed to choose what they want to study, perhaps in Class 8 or later. If someone wants to study science, they shouldn't have to study social sciences and vice-versa, rather than removing chapters from textbooks," she adds.

EASY POSE TWIST RAISED ARMS

This is a seated twisting yoga pose that involves engaging the muscles of the back, arms, wrists, neck, and shoulders, performed in Sukhasana. The pose opens the chest and shoulders, lengthens the spine, which creates space for smooth deep breaths.

STEPS

- Sit in Sukhasana with shoulders rolled down, palms resting on the knees, and chin slightly in.
- Inhale, bring your palms together to stretch the arms up high to the sky with interlocked fingers.
- Soften the face as you stay in Easy Pose Upward Facing Interlocked Fingers for few breaths.
- Settle the body down, opening up through the chest, finding that straight line with the back erect and natural lift in the heart.
- Begin to twist, take breath, engage your core and feel your arms. Exhale. Twist the torso to the left with your arms and neck to look to the left.
- Stay for five breaths.
- Your head stays in line with the spine. Ensure you don't overturn the neck to look over the left.
- To release, inhale, turn the upper back to the center. Arms remain stretched over the head with fingers interlocked.
- Counter the twist on the other side (right), following the above instructions.
- Turn back to the centre, release the arms, relax in Sukhasana Variation Arms Knees.

BENEFITS

- Stretches the palms, wrists, fingers, neck, spine and shoulders.
- Good practise for writers-musicians-gardeners-sportspeople.
- Improves the shoulder and spinal musculature and its flexibility.
- Expands the sides of the chest, intercostal muscles, rib cage, shoulders, and upper back.
- Helps to prepare the lungs for the forward bending asanas.
- Relieves respiratory conditions, like asthma, bronchitis, or colds
- Brings greater lung elasticity and range of motion to the spine.
- Reduces stress and tiredness.
- Develops strength in the spine.
- Improves circulation and releases compression between the vertebrae.
- Corrects the hunched or slouched posture and dropped shoulders.
- Good warm-up for twisting and forward bending asanas.
- Boosts energy in the body, after meditation or an intense pranayama.
- Prepares the body for twisting and forward bending poses.

LIMITATIONS

Those who are unable to sit on the floor can practise on a chair or bed and those who experience low blood pressure, pain in the fingers, wrists, or neck should take it slow.

People with problems of high blood pressure, chest pain, feeling shortness of breath, or hernia, injury to fingers, elbows, wrists, neck, and shoulders and surgery to any internal organ, especially shoulders and wrists, should avoid this.

SEVENTY-nine years ago, to the day, the biggest counter-offensive of the Second World War (1939-1945) began, which saw the tide turn in favour of the Allied forces, eventually leading to reclaiming France from Nazi Germany's deadly grip, and subsequently to the defeat of the latter.

June 6, 1944. After receiving orders from the US General Dwight D Eisenhower, Supreme Commander of the Allied Expeditionary Force in Europe (who went on to become the 34th US President from 1953 to 1961), 'Operation Overlord' began rolling out. A massive armada of 6,000 ships, that included 1,213 warships and carrying 20,000 landing crafts, left the English coast, crossed the English Channel in 47 convoys with 1,85,000 men, and reached five beaches of Normandy on the northern coast of France – Utah, Omaha, Sword, Gold, and Juno beaches.

The German military top brass was taken by surprise by the sheer size of the invasion. And they were deceived. Although their intelligence reports correctly indicated an invasion of Normandy, the Germans assumed it to be a diversionary tactic while actually targeting Calais. They concentrated their defences at Calais, while maintaining a smaller force at Normandy.

Despite this advantage, it was no less deadly for the Allied forces. That day saw the Allies penetrating the German defences and advancing. But it cost them the lives of 10,549 soldiers out of a total force comprising 83,115 British and Canadian and 73,000 US soldiers. The Germans lost about 6,500 soldiers that day.

The higher toll on the Allied side is attributed to their soldiers being exposed to heavy machine gun and artillery fire from well-entrenched Germans while trying to traverse the wide beaches and push inland.

A majority of those who died that day were martyred on the sands of these five beaches – many even before their landing crafts reached the beaches! And yet, they pushed through the German defences!

In the annals of war history, June 6, 1944 is called 'D-Day'. It was the day which marked the commencement of a counter-offensive by the forces of freedom and liberty against authoritarianism espousing the massacre of six million Jews as part of the Nazi pogrom.

The hair-raising valour and the sacrifices made by the Allied soldiers on June 6, 1944, on the beaches of Normandy, captivated an Irish journalist named Cornelius Ryan. In 1959, his non-fiction book, The Longest Day, was published, and more than a three-hour-long film by the same name was released by Twentieth Century Studios in 1962, winning two Oscars the following year. The star-studded film had five directors – Darryl F Zanuck, Ken Annakin, Andrew Marton, Bernhard Wicki and Gerd Oswald – and the scenes were shot in England, France and Germany. The film's cast had stars like John Wayne, Henry Fonda, Richard Burton, Robert Mitchum, Richard Todd, Robert Ryan, as well as the then up-coming acting legends like Sean Connery and Clint Eastwood, among others.

The film captures the smallest nuances of war, the emotions of soldiers in battle, the fear, the valour, the sacrifices, the costly mistakes and misunderstandings, as well as sheer emotional display of patriotism by the common members of the French resistance groups on learning of the coming invasion to liberate their country. It captures the humane too, and a scene displaying sheer grit by sisters of a mission who calmly walk through a hail of bullets, as if in a serene trance, to treat the wounded Allied soldiers, could give you goose-pimples while highlighting the contradictions of a war in its most beastly form. And it's all based on true incidents!

No wonder, World War II veterans, tourists and the French even now visit the beaches of Normandy and take away fistfuls of sand on which soldiers spilled their blood for the sake of freedom and liberty on this very day 79 years ago!

FORTNIGHTLY SEGMENT ON WHAT'S REVVING UP IN THE AUTOMOTIVE SECTOR

Maruti Suzuki's much-anticipated SUV, Jimny will hit the market this month. Lekshmi C Pillai shares her off road experience with this boxy, robust machine

Action hero Jimny

THE wait is over. It's here, the much-awaited Maruti Suzuki Jimny will hit the showrooms this month.

Jimny has been the most anticipated model of Maruti for many years. And for many, it is not just another car, but an all-powerful off-roader packed with nostalgic elements of yesteryear SUV star Gypsy. Now there are rumours that the Indian Army might replace its Gypsy vehicles with Jimny, the hype is rising day by day.

While around the globe, Jimny comes in a three-door avatar, the India-specific model has five (four doors for passenger entry and one for boot space). Did such customisation alter its off-road capabilities?

I had an opportunity to check its prowess in the hilly terrains of Dehradun. Let's go through the experience.

BOXY BEAUTY

The exterior specifications of Jimny make one thing clear – there's beauty in simplicity. Overall, it's boxy. The five-slot chrome plated grille gives it a rich off-road legacy and the aggressive stance is complemented by the simple round headlamps, independent indicators and bold gunmetal alloy wheels.

The Practical Drip Rails running along the side and rear edges provide easy installation of a roof carrier.

The LED headlamps come with washers so we always have a clear view of the path ahead. Profile and rear also focus more on ruggedness.

Jimny has a height of 1,720 mm with 210 mm ground clearance to steer through every obstacle with inimitable ease. The length (with spare tyre) is 3,985 mm making it supremely manoeuvrable with a minimum turning radius of 5.7 m. Its width stands at 1,645 mm and adds to its rugged stance.

COMFORT RICH

The exterior specifications are seamlessly complemented by functionality. The upright A-pillar and a flat bonnet structure ensure a wide unobstructed view. The cabin has a rich black interior where everything from switches to the dials to the touchscreen controls is tactile, accessible and easy to use.

Though it is an off-roader, it is going to act mainly as a family tourer for many, featuring comfortable seats designed for shock absorption.

The Jimny has no dearth of modern features. Touchscreen, connectivity, high-quality sound system, etc. are in place. The boot space in Jimny is 208 litres which can be increased to 332 litres with the rear seat folded.

PLENTIFUL ACTION

The Jimny is a true 4X4 SUV that impresses with its authenticity. Compact in length, the Jimny comes with ALLGRIP PRO, a low-range transfer gear that offers plenty of torque and traction to claw our way out through the toughest of terrains.

Jimny owes its excellent off-roading prowess to the Ladder Frame Chassis. The 3-link rigid axle suspension increases tyre contact in rough road conditions for excellent stability.

The Hill Descent Control with a push of a button allows you to control the speed of the vehicle using only the accelerator pedal, and Hill Hold Assist prevents the vehicle from rolling backwards.

Fortifying all of this is the Brake Limited Slip Differential feature that automatically pumps the brakes on the slipping wheel and redistributes the torque to the other three wheels. Jimny has a water wading capacity of 310 mm.

DRIVE EXPERIENCE

The Dehradun experience drive was in different terrains to show the abilities of the SUV. How many side inclines it can go, how steep it can tread with ease, how it will manage rocky hills, how to swim with a Jimny and how to drench in slush... Each of these presented extreme risk and extreme fun at the same time. Superior suspension, hill descent-ascent controls, a four-wheel drive system, overall visibility, and ruggedness gave me the confidence to complete all these tasks.

The on-road driving experience was that of comfortable modern car. No body rolls, full of features and premium materials.

VERDICT

Jimny will attract any class of buyers. It has an appeal that other cars don't enjoy. At the same time, with a mileage of 16.39 (automatic) and 16.94 (manual), it gives peace of mind just like any other car from Maruti Suzuki. Jimny is available in two variants. If priced competitively, it has everything to become a superstar.

POWER-PACKED

Jimny is powered by a K15B petrol engine with an idle start-stop that produces 104.8 PS peak power and 134.2 Nm torque. This powertrain is available with 5-speed manual and 4-speed automatic transmission options. Along with ALLGRIP PRO, this vehicle makes the most challenging terrains a breeze to drive on.

SAFETY MATTERS

To keep your spirit of adventure going, the new Jimny comes equipped with six airbags, a standard across all variants. This safety quotient is further augmented by ABS, EBD, ESP, Side-Impact Door Beams, Brake Assist function, ISOFIX Child Seat Anchorages, Seatbelt Pretensioner, Rear View Camera and Engine Immobiliser.

Yava Mohana Murali Kareyithu to be a heartwarming tale of a disabled girl and a dog

Prakriti and Rocky

CE FEATURES

The song Yava Mohana Murali Kareyithu, written by poet Gopalkrishna Adiga, has gained immense popularity. Now, a film has been named after this song. Recently, the makers wrapped up shooting and released the teaser of the movie in the presence of dignitaries from the Karnataka Film Chamber of Commerce.

Yava Mohana Murali Kareyithu tells a heartwarming tale of human-animal bonding. While Kannada cinema has seen several films centred around dogs, this one stands out with its unique narrative. The film tells the story of a disabled girl in search of hope, who crosses paths with an affectionate dog. "Their bond strengthens but another person enters their lives, leading to a pivotal turning point," explains director Vishwas Krishna, who is making his directorial debut.

The shooting now is post-production stages is getting ready for a release. "Audiences can expect three captivating songs, and the trailer scheduled to arrive soon, adds director Vishwas Krishna.

Produced by Sharannappa Gouramma, the film features a dog named Rocky as one of the protagonists, alongside Baby Prakriti, Madhav, and Swapna Shettigar in the lead roles. Patel Varun Raj plays a pivotal role, and the music is composed by Anil CJ.

Cricketer Sumit to make his debut with Gadayuddha

CE FEATURES

Sumit, an enthusiastic cricketer who played in the Karnataka Playing League, faced a turning point in his life when a spinal injury forced him to bid farewell to cricket. But the relentless youngster went on to embrace his passion for cinema. The Belagavi native is now settled in Bengaluru, Sumit is all set to test the waters with acting in the upcoming film, Gadayuddha, slated for release this week. Reflecting on his journey, Sumit shares, "After my injury, I had to leave cricket and shift my focus to cinema. As I delved into the world of directing and cinematography, I stumbled upon director Shrivathsa Rao (Mrugashira) during my visits to various production houses. One of his stories caught my attention, and we collaborated on this project," says an excited Sumit, who plays the role of Bheema in the film.

Interestingly, it was Chiranjeevi Sarja who suggested Sumit to play the lead in Gadayuddha. "The director shared the story with me four years ago, without any specific plans for the lead role. He had also approached Chiranjeevi Sarja for a prominent part. During a visit to Chiranjeevi's place, a photo of mine from a family function caught his attention, and he believed in my potential to become a hero. This prompted Shrivathsa Rao to consider me for the lead role," expresses Sumit.

Gadayuddha, which will be released in multiples languages delves into the intriguing subjects of black magic and witchcraft, prevalent in Bengal and Kerala, with extensive research by the director. Shrivathsa Rao devoted two years for preparation, aiming to deliver both information and entertainment. The narrative primarily focuses on Banamati, a specific black magic practiced in Maharashtra. "Though Gadayuddha approaches the subject scientifically it also maintains a commercial appeal. The filming of the climactic scene alone took 14 days, with a production cost of 1 crore," shares Sumit, emphasising the dedication put into the project.

Nitin Shirgurkar serves as the film's producer, while Dhanya Patil plays the heroine. Noted actors such as Sarath Lohitaswa, Ayyappa Sharma, Sadhu Kokila, and Sparsha Rekha play prominent characters in the film, and Vice King is the composer.

ROAD KING BECOMES THE FIRST FILM TO BE DIRECTED THROUGH VIDEO CONFERENCING

The Kannada film marks the debut of Hollywood director Randy Kent and is based on an actual incident that occurred in Kolar a few years ago

A SHARADHAA

Filmmakers have increasingly embraced technology in their craft, and Road King, starring newcomer Mateen Hussain, is claimed to be the first film to be directed through video conferencing. The Kannada film marks the debut of Hollywood director Randy Kent and is based on an actual incident that occurred in Kolar a few years ago. Mateen Hussain, who is making his acting debut, also takes on the role of producer for this film, scheduled for release on June 23rd. In an interaction with CE, Mateen explains the use of new technology in the making of the film revealing that he approached several directors in the industry, but most of them declined due to budget constraints. "Since I grew up in the USA, I have known Randy Kent (Life of Lemon, and Perfect House) for a long time. I requested him to direct the project. Initially, he hesitated due to the language barrier, but eventually agreed to direct the film."

Due to visa issues, Randy Kent was unable to travel to Bengauru, which led to the decision to direct the film through Skype. "Despite two attempts, he couldn't obtain a visa for various reasons, and he couldn't come to Bangalore. Finally, he directed the film from the USA through Skype, making it the first film directed via video conferencing," reveals Mateen.

Road King revolved around a rare disorder called Obsessive Ex syndrome and was filmed in Bangalore and other locations. In addition to Mateen, the film features Rukshar Dhillon, Leela Mohan, Harish Sejekan, Nayana Shetty, and others in prominent roles. Arif Lalani serves as the cinematographer, while sound designer Scott Wolf, known for his work in various Hollywood films, has collaborated with Road King. Shri Crazy Minds handles the editing.

Sarah Catherine Hook, Zac Burgess, Myra Molloy cast in Cruel Intentions adaptation

CE FEATURES

Amazon has zeroed in on the main cast of its upcoming series adaptation of the 1999 cult film Cruel Intentions. Actors Sarah Catherine Hook, Zac Burgess, Myra Molloy, will feature as the leads along with a cast comprising Khobe Clarke, Brooke Lena Johnson, Sara Silva, Sean Patrick Thomas, and John Harlan Kim.

The upcoming series is set in Washington DC and comes from writers Phoebe Fisher and Sara Goodman, along with Sony Pictures Television, Amazon Studios and Original Film. The series will premiere on Prime Video with the date yet to be announced. The original film, which was released in 1999, was directed by Roger Kumble and starred Sarah Michelle Gellar, Ryan Phillippe, Reese Witherspoon, and Selma Blair.

Inspired by the novel Les Liaisons Dangereuses by Choderlos de Laclos, the series revolves around two step-siblings who can go to any extent to achieve what they want. Phoebe will be writing the series while Sarah will be supervising.

HOCUS POCUS 3 IN DEVELOPMENT AT DISNEY

CE FEATURES

A third instalment of the Hocus Pocus film series is at work at Walt Disney Pictures, with the company's president Sean Bailey confirming the update in a recent interview.

However, Bailey did not offer any further details regarding the development. The film's second instalment premiered 29 years after the first film was released and became a success.

The original Hocus Pocus starred Bette Midler, Sarah Jessica Parker and Kathy Najimy as a trio of Sanderson witch sisters brought to life 300 years after the Salem witch trials and discovered that Halloween is now just a holiday. The second film brought back the Sanderson sisters with the actors returning for their respective roles. With a new cast of teenagers also involved, the second film hinted at a sequel with the post-credits scene.
